WARNER JURY IS DISCHARGED; NEW TRIAL IN APRIL

No Verdict In Case of Delegate Charged With Taking $500 Bribe From Ascher.

JURORS VOTE EIGHT TO FOUR TO FIND GUILTY

Majority for Conviction on First Ballot, but Minority Could Not Be Won Over—"Cap" Troll Questioned About Creve Coeur Gambling in Cross-Examination.

Hopelessly at variance, with eight for conviction and four for acquittal, the jury which heard the evidence in the case of Delegate Ferd Warner of the Second Ward, charged with bribery in the Ascher garage bill case, was discharged by Judge Muench at 11:30 a. m. Friday. The line-up of the jurors became apparent when the first ballot was taken Thursday evening, and it was not altered during the morning's balloting.

Circuit Attorney Sager asked at once that the case be reset for April 7, but Warner's lawyers objected, on the ground that they would be busy, and Judge Muench reset it indefinitely for the April term.

Small Number Hears Verdict.

A dozen delegates, a sprinkling of Four Courts employes and the usual court spectators made up the small number present when the result became known. Delegates Warner and Priesmeyer and their lawyers walked from the room in silence.

The dismissal of the jury followed its second report during the morning. It was out since 10 p. m. Thursday, sleeping four hours. At 10:45 a. m. Charles J. Kostuba, the foreman, announced that the jurors stood 8 to 4, and that there seemed no possibility of an agreement, but Judge Muench sent them back for further consultation.

The jurors refused to give the names of those for acquittal or conviction.

Kostuba, speaking for the entire jury, said: "I cannot even tell whether the eight stood for conviction or acquittal. We have agreed to give out nothing about our deliberations in the jury room."

Other jurors referred questioners to Mr. Kostuba. The charge against Warner was that, on the night of Oct. 18 last, he accepted $500 as a bribe from Henry Ascher, after an agreement with Ascher that if this amount was paid, a bill authorizing Ascher to build a garage at 5011 Delmar boulevard would be passed.

Bishop Tells Boodle Story.

Judge Muench adjourned court for an hour at 6 p. m. Thursday. On reconvening court he read the instructions to the jury.

Former Circuit Judge Bishop, who has been associated with Mr. Sager in the prosecution of the bribery cases, made the opening argument to the jury. He dealt principally with the law and the facts. He outlined the offense charged, and the law covering the crime of bribery, and then, step by step, rehearsed the entire story of the transactions.

Judge Moore made a somewhat remarkable argument to the jury. He endeavored to make it appear that Mayor Wells wanted to trap members of the House of Delegates because they had passed the free bridg bill over his vto. This was generally considered as designed to catch a business man on the jury who had been actively interested in the free bridge.

"This scheme was hatched up in the Mayor's office to get somebody in trouble," said Judge Moore. "Mr. Warner was busy with the free bridge bill. It may be that the Mayor wanted to punish somebody for passing this bill over his veto.

"Anyhow, after this elegant and odoriferous Ascher had been to see the Mayor and Connett, an appointment was made with Mr. Sager, and we find Mr. Connett going to Mr. Sager's house, in the dead of night, with $1000 he had drawn on the Mayor's check, to get some poor little $25-a-month devil into trouble."

Attorney Rowe made an argument principally on the instructions of the Court as he conceived that they applied to the testimony of Ascher and Connett. He referred to Connett as the Prime Minister of the Mayor, busily engaged in setting traps for members of the House of Delegates, and then promise them forgiveness if they would "get down on their marrow-bones" and beg for it.

Circuit Attorney Sager denounced the House of Delegates combine and the gang associated with it. He admitted that he had participated in setting the trap to catch the two members, and said that if he had not gone as far as he did in the matter he ought to be drummed out of the community.

Like Rats After Cheese.

"I have had occasion to say before," said Mr. Sager, near the close of his speech, "that when I want to catch a rat I set a trap. And there never was a rat that would go after a piece of fresh American cheese any quicker than some of these fellows in the House of Delegates will go after a $10 bill."

Mr. Sager denounced "Cap" Troll and "Red" Brennan in the bitterest terms. He had paid Connett a compliment for his work in this case, and said that if he could have the co-operation of half a dozen men like Connett his duties would be rendered much easier.

"The fellows that this defendant brought in here to testify for him look to me like a mighty tough gang," said Sager. "I don't want to include William J. Brennan in this gang, however, for he presented a clean, decent appearance. But this man 'Red' Brennan and Cap Troll look to me as if they were members of a gang."

Warner Admits Interview With Ascher; Denies Taking Boodle

Warner was the last important witness in his own behalf. His testimony, in part, follows:

"Who went with you to the House of Delegates on the night of Oct. 19?"

"Fred Priesmeyer, Cap Troll and E. J. (Red) Brennan.

"Did you see Henry Ascher in the corridor of the City Hall?"

"Yes. As I was going into the Clerk's office. Ascher called me aside and asked me about his garage bill. He had been to see me several times, and had telephoned to me. I don't know how many times he did come to see me. I told him I was a new member of the House and didn't know much about garage bills or any other kind of bills."

"Did you tell Ascher you would pass his bill if he would give you $500?"

"No, sir."

"Did you tell him you would send someone to see him about passing his bill?"

"No, I did not. He was coming to see me all the time."

"Did you tell him you would send Priesmeyer out of the Clerk's office, and for him to pay the money to Priesmeyer?"

"No, I did not."

"You were very busy, were you not, Mr. Warner?"

"Yes. I was chairman of the Committee on Public Improvements, and was on the legislative and other committees. I told Mr. Ascher I was busy with the free bridge bill, which was not taken care of, and all the people wanted the bridge."

Just Remembered Troll.

On cross-examination, Mr. Sager asked Warner why it was that he now remembers that "Cap." Troll went with him to the House of Delegates on the night of the alleged bribery, when in the Naughton trial he testi-

QUAKE RAZES CITY OF 15,000; RUINS ON FIRE

Chilapa, Mexico, South of Capital, Leveled by Night Shock.

POPULACE IN TERROR

Town Was Seat of Bishop and Had Large Factories.

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, March 27.—The town of Chilapa, in the State of Guerrero, was destroyed by an earthquake last night.

Following the shock, the ruins took fire, and the whole city is burning.

The populace is terror-stricken. It is not known, even approximately, how many lives were lost.

Chilapa was a city of 15,000 inhabitants.

The destroyed town lies about 115 miles south of Mexico City. It was the seat of a bishop, and several important manufactories were located there.

MILLION-DOLLAR BANK THEFT IS LAID TO 2 MEN

Pittsburg Examiner Has Information Issued Against Teller and Auditor.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 27.—A sensation was caused here today when Bank Examiner W. L. Folds made a third information against Henry Rieber, paying teller, and John Young, auditor of the Farmers' Deposit National Bank, charging them with misapplying funds of the bank amounting to $1,105,000.

The previous amounts named were $85,000 and $300,000.

Rieber and Young are in the County Jail, where they were placed following their arrest last Monday night. They are held in $25,000 bail.

Other Charges Likely.

According to a persistent rumor, informations against business men in Pittsburg and other cities are likely to be made in connection with the matter within the next 24 hours.

The informations today were filed shortly after noon with United States Commissioner William T. Lindsay. The examination and audit of the books of the bank have been practically completed, and it is believed that the informations today will cover the entire shortage within the statutes.

Containing two counts, embezzlement and misapplication and false entries in the teller's statement book, the information charges the fraud extended over a period of three years prior to March 10, 1908. Funds of the bank were diverted as late as March of this year.

In cases of embezzlement the statute of limitations applies after three years, and for this reason information cannot go back further than to March 10, 1905.

Detectives Investigating.

Just what Rieber and Young did with the money they are alleged to have stolen is a matter of conjecture. Local brokerage concerns say they have not had business dealings with the two men and detectives are now making an effort to ascertain where Rieber spent the money.

Rieber is a middle-aged man, who has been with the bank for 32 years. He has lived modestly in a little home in the East End here and was prominent in church circles. It is not believed that the losses the bank has sustained will affect it in any way, as it is one of the strongest banking institutions in the city. Its capital stock is $6,000,000 and its surplus and undivided profits are nearly $3,000,000.

Clay was frightfully injured by being caught by a projecting platform as he was climbing off a gondola car. He died while appeal proceedings were pending.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FARMINGTON, Mo., March 27.—W. H. Kennan of Mexico, Mo., former Adjutant-General of the State, committed suicide by hanging this morning in his quarters in the State Hospital for the Insane, No. 4.

The patient tied a towel about his neck, attached it to a water pipe near the ceiling, mounted a chair and then kicked it from under him, strangling to death.

Mr. Kennan was well-known throughout the State, having been a leader in Democratic circles. He formerly was a member of the House of Representatives from Audrain County.

Tried Suicide Before.

The night guard visited Mr. Kennan in his room about 5:30 a. m. and was told that he wished to sleep a little longer. When he did not appear for breakfast the attendant returned to Mr. Kennan's room and found that he had ended his life.

Mr. Kennan tried to commit suicide in Mexico several years ago by hanging himself in his stable, but his wife saved his life by cutting the rope.

The body will be taken to Mexico Saturday night and the funeral will take place from the Baptist Church there at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. State officials and politicians will attend the ceremonies.

Original Folk Man.

Mr. Kennan had been secretary of the Confederate Home Association of Higginsville and was one of the leaders of the State bar. When he served in the General Assembly in 1885 he was known for his speeches. He was one of the original Folk supporters. His illness, which caused him to be sent to the asylum, developed only in the last year.

Mrs. Kennan is a daughter of former Attorney-General McIntire of Mexico. Mr. Kennan leaves a son.

The first game of the spring series between the Sunshine and Winter teams in the Weather League will be played Friday. Sunshine is confident of victory, but Ban Bowe, the expert, fears that the club's period of training has been too short and that Winter will show greater strength in the closing innings of the game.

This is the way he "dopes" it:

Increasing cloudiness, followed by showers and probably thunderstorms late tonight or Saturday; much cooler Saturday; south winds, shifting to northerly, Saturday, minimum temperature Friday night will be about 65 degrees.

Unofficially, the forecaster said that the temperature will probably rise to 85 degrees before Friday night's cold spell arrives.

The river stage is 15.3, a fall of .4.

WIFE SEES SOLDAN DIE IN STORE; BODY ON FLOOR AN HOUR

F. Louis Soldan

Superintendent of Public Schools, Stricken Suddenly on Street Car, Expires Shortly After He Is Carried Into Store by Fellow Passenger.

WAS WIDELY KNOWN; HELD OFFICE 13 YEARS

Complained of Illness When He Arose This Morning but Did Not Consider It Serious and Declined to Call Physician — Police Drive Crowds Back While Mrs. Soldan Awaits Tardy Undertaker.

BRIEF FACTS ABOUT THE LIFE OF F. LOUIS SOLDAN

He was 66 years old.
Connected with St. Louis public schools 40 years.
Superintendent of schools the past 12 years.
Born in Germany and was first a teacher of languages.
Originator of many St. Louis public school methods.
Promoted and reappointed by many boards of education.
Salary, $7000 a year.
Possible successor—One of the assistant superintendents, possibly Ben Blewett or John S. Collins, or W. J. S. Bryan, principal of the Central High School.

Frank Louis Soldan, for 13 years Superintendent of Schools and widely known as a lecturer and educator, was stricken with apoplexy at noon Friday on an Olive car and died two minutes after Mrs. Soldan and a passenger carried him into a drug store at Sarah and Olive streets. Mr. Soldan had been feeling ill all day and was on his way to a physician. It was his wife's birthday.

For an hour and a half the body lay face upward on the floor of the drug store beside a cigar counter and in plain view from the door, where a curious crowd gathered. Mrs. Soldan was in hysterics. An undertaker took her husband's body to the home, 3634 Flad avenue.

WOULDN'T CALL FOR PHYSICIAN.

Prof. Soldan worked as usual Thursday, and left his office at the Board of Education headquarters apparently in the best of health and spirits. He was a man of big frame, with clear gray eyes, and he gave an impression of great physical vigor.

When Prof. Soldan arose Friday he complained that he felt ill, and at breakfast Mrs. Soldan urged him to telephone for a physician, but he refused to do so. He went to a neighboring florist during the morning and bought a box of flowers for Mrs. Soldan, in honor of her birthday, presenting them with a pretty little speech prepared during the return walk.

During the morning Prof. Soldan grew worse instead of better. He complained of pain in his head and dizziness. Mrs. Soldan finally persuaded him to see a physician, and he made a telephone engagement with Dr. H. Tuholske at Taylor avenue and Olive street. They were to call on Dr. Tuholske at noon.

Prof. Soldan telephoned his office that he might not be down during the day, but that he probably would be at work Saturday.

MRS. SOLDAN'S STORY OF TRAGEDY.

Prof. and Mrs. Soldan boarded a Grand avenue car and transferred on Olive street. He said the fresh air made him feel better, and commented on the springlike weather.

As the Olive street car neared Sarah street, Mrs. Soldan noted that her husband paled.

"He gave an exclamation as if he were in great pain," Mrs. Soldan told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I caught his arm as he fell forward and tried to straighten him up. His face grew whiter and then crimson.

"A passenger in the car saw what was happening and rang the bell. The car stopped at Sarah street, and the passenger helped me carry Mr. Soldan off the car.

The man was William Herbert. He and Mrs. Soldan, unassisted, carried the dying man into Stoermer's drug store and laid him on the floor, while a clerk ran for restoratives. Prof. Soldan gasped once or twice, but did not again open his eyes. He was dead when Dr. Tuholske reached the store.

Telephone messages were sent to the Board of Education and to an undertaker. Assistant Superintendents Blewitt and Knox reached the store at 1 o'clock, and did what they could to quiet Mrs. Soldan. She was weeping and wringing her hands, but could not be persuaded to go home in a carriage.

Profs. Collins and Rathman reached the store soon, and were sent to the home to prepare for the reception of the body.

Body Lay There Long.

The undertaker was slow in arriving. He was expected every moment, and no effort was made to move the body, although it became necessary several times to disperse the crowd which congregated at the entrance to the store.

Friends of Prof. and Mrs. Soldan arrived rapidly after 1 p. m., the majority of them remaining on the scene with reiterated offers of assistance if there was anything they could do.

It was 2 o'clock before the undertaker arrived, and the strain told severely on Mrs. Soldan, whose nervous condition became momentarily more acute. She would not consent to have a nearby undertaker take charge of the body even temporarily, but insisted on waiting for a firm with which she and her husband had long been acquainted.

DARING WOMAN THIEF NIPS OFF RICH DIAMONDS

Robs Victims as They Hunt Bargains in Department Stores.

A woman, deft of touch and bold of action, who "nips diamonds from the earrings of other women at bargain counters, is operating in St. Louis. So skillful is she that she can take the jewels from their pendants without her victims feeling the operation.

The police have been informed of several occasions when the mysterious thief, taking advantage of women shoppers' absorption in the attraction of bargain sales, has robbed them of valuable jewels. They are searching for the woman.

Mrs. Bessie Meiser, 2227 Pine street, offered the police Friday a reward of $50 if they would recover for her a diamond worth $250, which was "nipped" from her ear at a bargain sale Thursday afternoon. She did not discover the theft until she reached home, when she found the empty gold setting in her ear. Examining it, she could see where the stone had been cut loose with a sharp instrument.

She is sure the "nipper" was a woman, because she says she was not near enough to a man on the afternoon of the theft for him to rob her. But she was one of a large crowd of women at a bargain sale in one of the downtown stores.

EVE AVENGED; ONE GIRL KILLS 6 REAL SNAKES

Miss Rhoda Brockman of East St, Louis Lets Only One Get Away.

Eve is avenged at last.

Miss Rhoda Brockman of East St. Louis killed six serpents and the Caseyville road is again a paradise for young women who would love to take romantic strolls, but have refrained because of their fear of snakes.

For a long time it has been known that there was a colony of serpents near the L. & N. tracks, a mile north of East St. Louis.

Thursday afternoon Miss Brockman her sister, Elma, and Miss Fulda Schroeder of Belleville, who was visiting them, were lured outdoors by the spring sunshine, and Miss Schroeder suggested that they take a stroll on the Caseyville road.

"Goodness, no," said Miss Elma, "there's the awfullest lot of snakes there."

"O, I guess they wouldn't hurt us in the daytime," said Miss Schroeder.

She won her point and they started out. They had crossed the railroad embankment when Miss Schroeder screamed and scrambled back to the right of way.

The others followed, breathlessly asking what was the matter.

"I saw a snake," said Miss Schroeder."

"There?" asked Miss Rhoda Brockman. Miss Schroeder pointed to a gully at the side of the road.

Picking up a rusted iron bar that lay near the track Miss Rhoda ran down the embankment.

When she reached the gully she found seven snakes huddled together. She struck at the bunch with the iron bar. One of the snakes uncoiled and raised its head. With a quick side stroke Miss Brockman laid it low. Then another and another rose, but the bar landed until six of the seven lay limp and lifeless. The seventh crawled into a hole.

TROLL HINTED AT SCHEME TO AID WAINWRIGHT

Democrat Contributed $5000 to Republican Fund for Protection, It Is Said.

CHARGES STILL STAND

Indictment Against Brewer on Boodle Charge Never Was Quashed.

Charles (Cap) Troll's statement on the witness stand that he could tell something about "a $5000 deal" if the Court cared to hear it caused a great deal of discussion in political circles.

Troll refused Friday to tell what he meant and Circuit Attorney Sager said that he had no idea what "deal" was referred to.

The story which Troll volunteered to tell in court and which he was not permitted to tell is said to have to do with the manner in which a certain candidate on the Republican city ticket was elected several years ago.

According to statements made by politicians at the City Hall, a certain powerful financier, well known to be a Democrat, contributed $5000 to the Republican campaign fund.

It was said that the reason for this was that he desired to insure the protection of Ellis Wainwright, who had been indicted by Folk and who was and now is a fugitive.

He agreed to contribute to the Republican fund, according to this story, and in return for this he was to receive the assurance that the charges against Wainwright would be dropped. The candidate was elected, but the charges against the fugitive still stand.

HUSBAND VALUED AT $350 AWARDED TO WOMAN WHO WOULDN'T TAKE ANY LESS

Mary Wanted to Buy Steve on Installment Plan but Annie Demanded Spot Cash.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Because Mary Barna did not have enough money to buy Steve Gurick, he was married to Annie Markowiz by Judge Owen Mahon in a public court at Elizabeth, N. J.

Steve himself had very little to do with it, except in the beginning. Steve engaged himself to both women, but Annie had first claim. Mary offered her $157, all she had saved, but Annie said he was worth $350, and she wouldn't sell him for a cent less. Then Mary said she would pay the $157 down to bind the bargain and $3 a week until Steve was fully paid for, but again Annie refused.

Mary took the matter into court, on a charge of breach of promise, but the Judge decided that Steve belonged to Annie and that Mary had recognized the fact by trying to buy him from her. So Steve and Annie were married, while Mary looked on.

STEER COMMITS SUICIDE TO AVOID BEING KILLED

Dodges Policeman and Jumps Over Railing of the East St. Louis Viaduct.

Suffering from acute melancholia, caused by the knowledge that he was being driven to meet his death in a St. Louis slaughter house, a big red steer committed suicide Thursday by leaping over the railing of the East St. Louis viaduct. He struck on the railroad tracks and was dead when his herder reached him a few minutes later.

The steer, with 14 others had been purchased in East St. Louis Friday morning by Louis Schaeffer, a St. Louis butcher. Two men were in charge of the herd, driving them to St. Louis.

The animal's peculiar actions were first noticed by Policeman Hansen, who saw the steer walk close to the edge of the viaduct and gaze into the space below. The policeman drove it away with his club. The steer rushed around him, made a run for the opposite side of the viaduct and leaped over the railing.

His body was badly crushed. A wagon was called and the animal was hauled to St. Louis.

fied that only "Red" Brennan and Priesmeyer were with him. Warner said he was sure he testified in the former case that Troll was with him.

"You are very friendly with Cap. Troll, are you not?" Sager asked.

"Yes, sir."

"You say Cap. Troll asked you to pass this bill?"

"Yes. We generally pass bills when some member asks to have it done."

Wouldn't Pass It Before.

"Why was it that you were so anxious to pass this bill for Cap Troll, when you had refused to do anything with it when Mr. Stannard asked you to pass it?"

Attorneys Moore and Rowe objected to the question, and Warner was not permitted to answer.

"Why did you go out to see this garage if you were so very busy with the free bridge bill?" asked the Circuit Attorney.

To this question also objection was made and sustained.

Warner was cool under cross-examination. Both Troll and Priesmeyer got angry under the Circuit Attorney's gruelling, but Warner kept his temper.

Fred W. Priesmeyer, who was jointly indicted with Warner for bribery, and later indicted for perjury, testified that Ascher did not give him any money to pass the garage bill.

Denies Positively.

"Did Henry Ascher give you $500 or any other sum of money on the night of Oct. 18?"

"Positively no."

"Did you give $500 or any other sum to Daniel E. Naughton on the night of Oct. 18, or any other time?"

"Positively no."

"Were you searched at the Circuit Attorney's office, after you were arrested?"

"I was. I had $1.83 in my pockets. I was taken to Police Headquarters and again searched. No such sum of money, or any considerable part of it, was found on me."

"Did you have any conversation with Daniel E. Naughton during the meeting or before the meeting of the House of Delegates?"

"I did not."

Out of Saloon Business.

On cross-examination, Priesmeyer said he had given up his saloon Jan. 1, and was now looking after some real estate for a man out of the city. He stuck to his story throughout a rigorous cross-examination by Mr. Sager.

ROOSEVELT AND DIEKMA LOSE TEMPERS AND SHAKE FISTS AT ONE ANOTHER

President Thought Committee Investigating Wilfley Charges Was Going Too Far.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—President Roosevelt and Representative Diekma of Michigan are said to have shaken fists at each other during an argument over the case of Judge L. R. Wilfley of St. Louis, now Judge of the American court at Shanghai. Charges were preferred against Wilfley, and the Judiciary Committee of the House, of which Diekma is a member, was instructed by the House to investigate. While the committee was sifting the case the President issued a letter exonerating the Judge and pitching into his "defamers."

The President is said to have sent for Diekma to tell him that the committee was too officious in going further into the case than they had been instructed. Diekma retorted pretty warmly, and for five minutes the top of the big desk in the President's office was converted into a drum, each party in the argument treating it to a goodly number of fist thumps.

When the argument was ended neither had convinced the other and Diekma left the White House in a highly excited state of mind.

GIRLS, ANXIOUS TO MARRY, BESIEGE HEIR TO $10,000

Leap Year Maids in Six States Propose Matrimony to Ohioan by Mail.

CINCINNATI, March 27.—Leap year girls of Cincinnati and other cities within a radius of several hundred miles are besieging Paul Bradley of the Indiana Hotel, this city, with ardent proposals.

Bradley has $10,000 coming to him as soon as he enters into a matrimonial agreement, and a few days ago announced that he was willing to pool interests with the right girl.

The news has reached girls in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio, and Bradley says he has a choice collection of love letters.

One Cincinnati girl writes thus: "My unknown sweetheart, I am a brunette, 23 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 132 pounds. In fact, I am considered a very sweet-looking kid. I am full of life and fun. It would be a fine romance to hurry up and get married."

Bradley said: "I am determined to get married now, but will wait long enough to find the girl, and then we claim that $10,000 offered us in my uncle's will."

STOCKHOLDERS IN TENNENT SHOE COMPANY LOSE SUIT

Federal Court of Appeals Holds They Purchased Stock With Eyes Open.

Holders of stock in the defunct Tennent Shoe Co. are not entitled to recover the money which they paid for the stock, even though it be true that the company was insolvent at the time they purchased the stock, says the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in a decision handed down Friday.

The decision of Judge Finkelnburg in the United States Circuit Court that whether the company was solvent or not, it must be assumed that the purchasers bought the stock with their eyes open is sustained.

The suit was brought by Walter S. Scott and others, whose holdings of stock amounted to more than $500,000, the defendant being A. L. Abbott, trustee in bankruptcy.

The ruling of the Court is in effect that the claims of the creditors are entitled to precedence over those of stockholders, and the latter are held liable.

Killed Trying to Blow Safe.

GENTRY, Ark., March 27.—In a futile attempt to blow open the safe of the Farmers' Bank at Springtown, near here, early yesterday, the head of one of the robbers was blown from his shoulders by a premature explosion of dynamite. The body of the robber was found in the bank near the safe. In his pocket was a map showing Gentry, Springtown and Sulphur Springs marked with crosses. Banks at the two latter places have been robbed lately.

POINTS IN JUDGE MUENCH'S INSTRUCTIONS TO WARNER JURY

THE principal points in Judge Muench's instruction to the jury were that a conviction could be based upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice in a crime, but such testimony should be accepted with great caution. Attorneys for the defendant, in their arguments to the jury, declared that this instruction was given to cover the testimony of Ascher and William P. Connett, the Mayor's secretary, since Connett was the engineer of the trap for the accused delegate.

The jury also was instructed that if it believed any witness had sworn falsely to any material fact it was at liberty to reject all of his testimony. If the jury believed that Warner had agreed to accept a bribe, the Judge said, it was the jury's duty to find him guilty.

The Court instructed the jury that if the evidence showed that Warner and Priesmeyer solicited and received a $500 bribe from Ascher, then it was not material as to what source or person Ascher obtained the money from in order to make the payment.

veyed the news first to the public caused general exclamations of regret. Prof. Soldan was widely known and very popular.

Mr. Soldan was born in Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, in 1842. He was prepared for college in the German public schools and was graduated from the University of Giesen.

After studying languages in Berlin he came to America and located in St. Louis in 1863. After serving as assistant principal of a private school, he became in 1868 connected with the St. Louis public schools as teacher of foreign languages in the High School. W. T. Harris was then superintendent of schools.

At Normal School in 1871.

The following year he was made assistant superintendent of the High School, and in 1871 was appointed principal of the Normal School. In this capacity he served 20 years. For five of these years Mr. Soldan also managed the Franklin School.

In 1885 he was made principal of the High School and for a time was principal of both the High and Normal schools.

Since then Mr. Soldan has been in complete charge of the public school system of St. Louis. His administration has met with the favor of successive Boards of Education and he attained a prominent rank among the foremost educators of the country.

In 1896 he was selected by the Board of Education for the highest position in its gift—Superintedent of Schools. The Board removed Prof. Long, then well advanced in years, made him principal of a grammar school, and elevated Soldan to the superintendency.

Well-Known to Thousands.

Mr. Soldan was a very wel-known St. Louisan. In his 40 years' connection with the public schools he taught or supervised the teaching of many thousands of persons who now reside in St. Louis.

He knew the schools and the school teachers and principals intimately and spent much of his time visiting them—more time, in fact, than he spent at his office in the Board of Education Building, Ninth and Locust streets.

He was a member of the Liederkranz Club and other social organizations and was a frequent speaker at banquets where public questions were discussed.

He was one of the early advocates of free textbooks in the public schools, and is credited with being the introducer of the portable schoolhouse in St. Louis.

He was an advocate of manual training and physical culture in the public schools and he was also a believer in the employment of only unmarried women as women teachers.

Mr. Soldan was above medium height, of dignified carriage and impressive bearing. He was of heavy build and had a large head. His complexion was light and his eyes a clear blue. He wore a mustache, which in recent years had become silvered like his hair.

Favorite Among Teachers.

Mr. Soldan was a great favorite among the school teachers and principals under him. While he exacted a strict enforcement of rules and regulations from them, he was always ready to assist and advise them in every way.

Mr. Soldan's long experience in public life had made him a diplomat. He was always courteous and pleasant and could talk or keep silence as the occasion required, with much success.

WARNER STOLID IN HIS REFUSAL OF CONFESSION

Post-Dispatch Reporter Tells of His Talks With Indicted Delegate.

In the testimony in the Warner bribery trial, reference was made to the effort of William C. Connett, secretary to the Mayor, and Grattan Kerans, a Post-Dispatch reporter, to obtain a full statement from Warner.

Mr. Connett, in his testimony, said in answer to Judge Moore's questions that such an attempt was made. When asked whether immunity was offered, he said he would explain just what Warner was told, if the defense desired to have him do so.

The defense apparently did not desire this matter explained, as the questioning was dropped at that point.

The exact facts relating to this offer are given in the following statement by the reporter:

BY GRATTAN KERANS.

The arguments used to induce Warner to make a full statement in the interest of the public good were not based on any promise of immunity, but an effort was made to show him that his duty, not only to the State, but to his wife and child, demanded that if he knew of legislative wrongdoing in this or any other case, he should tell of it, trusting that his frankness might win for him whatever indulgence the law might allow him.

The arguments advanced were along the lines of those which induced Delegate John K. Murrell to return from Mexico during the Folk boodle investigations.

Nearly three months ago I learned that Mr. Connett was preparing to present arguments to Warner to induce him to make a full statement. He agreed that I should aid him in bringing this about and gave me a letter which was to show that I was authorized by him to act in the negotiations.

I made an engagement with Warner by telephone and met him at his saloon at Broadway and Warren street. At first he was inclined to resent my advances, but when I explained the purpose of my visit he listened to me patiently while I outlined the reasons why he should tell all he knew.

No Immunity Promise Made.

Nothing was said about immunity from prosecution. He was told specifically that he could expect only such indulgence as was within the law. I told him that in the present state of public opinion there was great probability that punishment might be severe if he persisted in maintaining silence in the face of the charges against him.

After I had talked with him for nearly an hour Warner said:

"That's all right, but I have nothing to tell. I'm not guilty. They are just trying to job me; that's all."

A week later I saw him at the City Hall. I repeated the arguments which I had made before, but he waved his hand and said:

"I won't give anybody up and I won't holler. If they send me away I'll go away."

A month ago I again saw Warner near his saloon. This time we talked nearly an hour. As evidence of my authority I showed him a letter written by Mr. Connett. I again told him of his duty to the State and of the presumption against him which might exist if he kept silent, and I reminded him of the misfortune which his conviction would entail on his family. When I was through talking he demanded that I give him the letter, which he had already had in his hands and had read. I refused.

"Well," he said, "I don't want to hurt you, but I want that letter." To put an end to the argument I tore up the letter and put the fragments in my pocket. Later I took them back to Mr. Connett and he gave me another letter.

Sees Father and Brother-in-Law.

That was the last time I approached Warner on the subject. I next saw his brother-in-law, Charles Hug, who went with me to Mr. Connett's home. Mr. Connett read the arguments to Hug, who took a copy of them, saying that he would deliver them to Warner.

Last Saturday I went to see Warner's father, Charles Warner, at his grocery store and saloon at Twenty-fifth street and Newhouse avenue. A brother of Warner also was there. The father became very angry and said that Warner was of age and able to look after his own affairs and that he would have nothing to do with an effort to induce his son to make a full statement.

Gets $15,000 Libel Judgment.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Emmanuel L. Phillips, president of the Union Refrigerator Transit Co. of Milwaukee, was awarded damages of $15,000 by a jury in the United States Circuit Court today in his suit against the McClure Publishing Co. The suit was based upon alleged libelous statements in a series of articles by Ray Stannard Baker, in which it was charged that Mr. Phillip's company had received unlawful commissions.

RIGHT FOOD.
How the Baby was Saved.

"When our first baby came it was soon apparent that his mother could not nurse him and it became necessary to feed him artificial food. We tried everything recommended by our family doctor, then consulted several other physicians in succession.

"We experimented with nearly every artificial food, but could barely keep the baby alive, and at the age of five months he weighed no more than at birth. When eight months old he had gained very little, and his stomach and bowels were in such a condition that we despaired of raising him.

"A chance acquaintance recommended Grape-Nuts, and we commenced feeding him on it, soaking it until soft in warm water, as milk would not stay on his stomach.

"From the very first we saw that we had found the right food at last and he began to improve immediately. We fed him on Grape-Nuts in this way and absolutely nothing else for several months, and he grew so fast and became so fat and strong that our friends were surprised and could scarcely believe that it was the same child.

"He did not even begin to crawl or cut his teeth until after we put him on Grape-Nuts. Until that time he was weak and helpless and cried nearly all the time. Now he is a strong, bright, rosy-cheeked child of 3½ years."

SAGAN AT PINK TEA; BONI GETS READY TO COME

Prince Meets Mme. Gould at Private Function in New York Hotel. .

COUNT ENGAGES SUITE

Divorcee's Suitor Has Long Record of Affairs of Heart and Sword.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 27.—A shadow was cast across the tea table at which Mme. Anna Gould and Prince Helie dé Sagan met, in the St. Regis Hotel, by the report that Count Boni de Castellane, divorced husband of Mme. Gould and cousin of the Prince, is about to start for New York.

Under the terms of the divorce, Count Boni has the legal right to see his three sons, now with their mother here, at Miss Helen Gould's residence. On this pretext he could place himself in the neighborhood of his former wife and her present suitor enough to annoy both extremely. It is believed that he still hopes to persuade her to a remarriage.

A suite in a New York hotel is said to have been engaged by cable for the Count's use.

The meeting of Mme. Gould and the Prince took place in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Morse in the St. Regis.

De Sagan German Prince.

Generations of azure blood flow in the veins of Prince Helie de Sagan. In reality, his is a German title. "Prince von Hagan," the accurate Almanach de Gotha calls him. His ancient family is as "noble" in Prussia as in France, where his aged father is the Duc de Talleyrand.

In the natural course of events the Prince, as the first-born son, will succeed his father in possession of the Duchy of Sagan, an estate in Prussian Selesia. The increase from the Duchy would be $200,000 had not the Duc de Talleyrand's creditors obtained legal hold of all of it save $4000 a year. The old Duke, a dandy and spendthrift in his youth, is a paretic now, so he has little need of money. But no man can tell what is the annual income of Prince Helie de Sagan, although some woman may be able to guess at it.

For, during the trial of the suit which De Sagan brought against his cousins, the Castellanes, for attacking him, Count Boni handed into court a bundle of letters, saying:

"I ask the president of the court to read these letters, which are of a character so intimate that they cannot be published. But they contain things so abominable, and place this person in a light so despicable, that he must acknowledge that or prove them to be forgeries."

"Forgeries" Cries Prince.

"They are forgeries," cried the Prince, "and I will prove them so."

Count Boni had intimated as strongly as he could that women, very dear friends of the Prince, had written the letters.

It is interesting to quote the remarks of the public prosecutor at that trial, which resulted in the court awarding 20 cents damages to Prince Helie.

"Nearly every day the court has to judge cases like this. It was a common gutter fight—nothing more or less. The only difference is in the social station of the combatants and in the cut of their coats. I do not think that the injuries on the Prince's side were so very serious. Anyway, he was able to have himself photographed in bed, with bandages around his head, soon after the incident. It was not a question either of the dregs of society mounting up from below, but rather of the elite coming down to the dregs."

No Seconds, No Duel.

And, after the fight, Boni de Castellane characterized his own flesh and blood by saying:

"There will be no duel, for, nowadays, the Prince de Sagan cannot find seconds to represent him."

Prince Helie de Sagan has for years been "without visible means of support." Once his name was prominent in a criminal affair. Notes had been forged the name of Max Lebaudy, the late sugar millionaire, who was the prey of harpies of all breeds.

Whether or not Boni de Castellane is right in saying no man will go out with de Sagan now, the Prince has been on the "field of honor" many times. Ever since he reached the years of indiscretion he has been fighting duels. One of his encounters was with Prince George Stourdza. As a preliminary, de Sagan slapped the other Prince on the face in the lobby of the opera, and then wounded him in a duel.

Defended Sportswoman.

The Prince de Sagan pummeled Maitre Barboux, the lawyer, for having declared that Mme. De Gast, the millionaire sportswoman, had posed for the nude "Masked Woman." De Sagan professed to be very much in love with Mme. De Gast at that time. Barboux took vengeance by having the Prince fined $100 in a police court.

De Sagan denounced Prince de Chalais as an impostor, claiming the ancient title for himself. De Chalais had recently married Miss Beatrice Winans of Baltimore, now dead. But the Prince declared himself above De Sagan's challenge to a duel, and he still wears the title De Chalais.

The men of the family of the Prince de Sagan have been fond of marrying American women. The Duc de Valencay, his brother, was divorced by his wife, the lovely Helen Morton, Levi P. Morton's daughter. A cousin of de Sagan, Maurice de Talleyrand-Perigord, Duc de Dino, was divorced in turn by two American wives. The first had been Miss Elizabeth Carter of New Orleans, the second was Miss Adele Sampson. She who was Anna Gould only recently rid herself of Boni de Castellane.

Now Helie de Sagan comes a-wooing.

CULEAN MEMBER OF BLACK HAND BAND, IS THEORY

Detective Who Came For Prisoner Says Italians Terrorize Rochester.

Detective Alexander C. Elliott of Rochester, N. Y., arrived in St. Louis Friday and took charge of Joseph Louis Culean, alias Colton, the young Italian who Thursday afternoon confessed having written "Black Hand" letters to two relatives demanding $350 from each.

Elliott says Culean's real name is Luiggi Cugiano and that he is a member of a society of Italians, agents of which have committed one murder, disfigured a man for life, blown up six residences with dynamite and kidnaped a young girl in Rochester within the past eight months. Only three weeks ago Detective Elliott, says, the home of a city official in Rochester was wrecked with an explosive after the official had received a "Black Hand" letter demanding $500. The home was that of Francisco Di Maria, 27 Hartford street.

The man who was murdered after refusing to give up $500 as commanded to do was Alexander Caruso, a wealthy merchant of Rochester. He was found lying on the street near his home on the night of Sept. 7, with his throat cut from ear to ear.

Caught Girl's Kidnaper.

At 6:30 a. m., July 22, Philomeno, 14-year-old daughter of Michel Di Ponzio, a wealthy retired merchant, was kidnaped while on her way from her home to a grocery. The father had previously received a "Black Hand" letter demanding $1000.

The four kidnapers were captured. Each was convicted and sentenced to serve ten years in the Penitentiary.

Detective Elliott, who speaks Italian, conversed with Cugiano in a cell Friday morning. Later the detective stated that the prisoner had admitted that he is acquainted with the Italians who have been convicted.

"There is no doubt in my mind that he is a member of the gang that has been terrorizing the wealthy Italians of Rochester," said Elliott. "Of course, he will not confess his connection. None of them do that. But he has admitted enough already to prove that he was engaged in the same line of work."

Cugiano confessed Thursday afternoon to Assistant Chief of Detectives McCarthy that he tried to extort $700 from Vincenzo Pizzicato of Rochester and an uncle in Poughkeepsie. He said he wanted the money to start a cobbler shop so that he could marry.

DIVERS SEARCHING RIVER FOR BREWERY ENGINEER'S BODY

Friends of Louis Spanholtz Fear He Was Waylaid and Murdered by Robbers.

Two divers under the direction of officials of the St. Louis Brewing Association began a search of the Mississippi River at the foot of Walnut street Friday for the body of Louis Spanholtz, chief engineer of the Green Tree Brewery, who disappeared from his home, 2717 South Eleventh street, Tuesday afternoon.

The belief that Spanholtz was drowned is caused by the fact that a few hours after his disappearance a watchman at the New Union Sand Co.'s barge at Walnut street saw a man's body sink in the river and then found a black soft hat floating near the barge. The hat answers the description of one worn by Spanholtz.

On the day of his disappearance Spanholtz took $60 from home and drew $140 at the brewery. His friends fear he was waylaid and robbed and thrown in the river.

SCORCHES ON WAY TO DINNER PARTY; PAYS $25 AND COSTS

Stewart McDonald of 34 Washington terrace was a defendant before Judge Tracy in the City Hall Police Court Friday on a charge of speeding. He admitted that he was driving his car 26 miles an hour.

"I was in a hurry to get to a dinner party, in order to avoid being late," Mr. McDonald explained to Judge Tracy.

Judge Tracy made no comment, but imposed a fine of $25 and costs, his customary punishment unless a good excuse is offered. Mr. McDonald paid.

Mr. McDonald was arrested Thursday evening, after he had driven his car along Washington boulevard from Whittier street to Taylor avenue.

With him in the car was his cousin, Mrs. J. W. Fristoe, wife of the Police Commissioner.

YOUTH, MEDICAL STUDENT, SEEKS "PRACTICE" AT CITY HOSPITAL

Forbidden Experiments on Patients, He Accuses Full-Fledged Doctors of Jealousy.

James Copeland, 18 years old, who told the City Hospital authorities he lived at Eleventh street and Illinois avenue, East St. Louis, is disgusted with the conditions at the institution.

He appeared there with a medicine case to treat patients and the other doctors, through jealousy, he says, refused to let him work on them.

Copeland remained in the reception room at the hospital all Thursday night waiting for patients, but none arrived during the night.

Friday morning he again appeared after breakfast and began scanning the register. John Sanders, a clerk, asked him what he wanted and he explained he was waiting for patients. He was attending a medical school, he said, and he thought it a good plan to visit the hospital and work on some of the patients. Sanders ordered him out.

Copeland appealed to Dr. Kirchner, the superintendant, but he also ruled that the City Hospital is not a training school for medical students, and sadly young Copeland departed.

Whose Say-so Is Best?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so alone and exclusively as to their curative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as if written from disinterested motives.

Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a single and therefore striking exception to the above rule. Their claim to the confidence of invalids does not rest solely upon their owner's and makers' say so or praise. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle-wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of the several ingredients entering into these well-known medicines.

In favor of Dr. Pierce's medicines is the frank, confiding, open, honest statement of their full composition, giving every ingredient in plain English, without fear of successful criticism and with confidence that the good sense of the afflicted will lead them to appreciate this honorable manner of confiding to them what they are taking into their stomachs when making use of these medicines.

WHAT THEY CURE. People often ask "What do Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines—'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' cure?"

Briefly, the answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative, or blood-purifier, and tonic, or invigorator, and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon the lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large percentage of catarrh cases, whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous diarrhea). Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections, it is generally successful in effecting cures. In fact, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is without doubt the most successful constitutional remedy for all forms of catarrhal diseases known to moderns medical science. In Chronic Nasal Catarrh Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid should be used for washing and cleansing out the nasal passages while taking the "Discovery" for its blood cleansing and specific, healing effects upon the mucous lining membranes. This combined local and general treatment will cure a very large percentage of the worst cases of chronic nasal catarrh, no matter of how many years' standing they may be.

As to the "Favorite Prescription," it is advised for the cure of one class of disease only—those ailments peculiar to women. It is a powerful, yet gently acting, invigorating tonic and nervine. For sick, worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, strong, vigorous condition of the whole system.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most of our obstinate and most fatal diseases, if we would properly investigate them; and in confirmation of this firm conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart tonic and regulator and blood cleanser known to medical science. Not less marvelous in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of backache, headache, hot flashes and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines had failed.

Both these world-famed medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots, found in our American forests. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. What is said of their power to cure the several diseases for which they are advised may be easily learned by sending your name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little booklet which he has compiled, containing copious extracts from numerous standard medical books, which are consulted as authorities by physicians of the several schools of practice for their guidance in prescribing. It is FREE TO ALL. A postal card request will bring it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." They are the original Little Liver Pills first put up by old Dr. Pierce, over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. They are tiny sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

FOLK TO OPEN HIS CAMPAIGN ON APRIL 13

Governor Selects Jefferson's Birthday as an Auspicious Date.

EXPECTS HARD FIGHT

"It Ought to Be an Interesting Affair," Senator Stone's Opponent Says.

Gov. Folk told a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Southern Hotel Friday that he had decided to inaugurate his campaign for United States Senator April 13, the anniversary of Thomas Jefferson's birth.

He will speak on that date, probably at St. Joseph, Mo., a recognized stronghold of Senator Stone.

The Governor declined to indicate the tenor of his opening address; whether he would confine his remarks to his own candidacy or go further and, as his friends have advised, attack Senator Stone's public record.

Although the primary election for United States Senator is held simultaneously with the general elections in November, Gov. Folk proposes to conduct a systematic campaign for the next six months, visiting as many counties as the duties of his office will permit.

Contest Ought to Be Interesting.

He does not regard the contest as an easy one. "It ought to be an interesting affair," he remarked significantly.

Gov. Folk refused to discuss the report that Harry M. Rubey, who has declared for Senator Stone, is to succeed Judge W. N. Evans, chairman of the State Committee.

"That is a question," said he, "that rests with the Committee. Mr. Rubey supported me in the campaign for Governor three years ago and gave valuable aid to the administration in his legislative capacity."

Politicians say that the Governor is worried over Rubey's attitude on the senatorial situation and point out that if he is affiliated with the Stone forces the Folk organization will be at a disadvantage.

Talks of Special Session.

Concerning the reputed intention of certain leaders to attempt to upset the new primary election law, Gov. Folk said:

"I have heard reports to this effect, but thus far they have not been verified. If for any reason, however, the primary law passed at the last session of the Legislature is declared unconstitutional or void by the courts, the General Assembly will be convened immediately to enact a new statute.

"It has been said by politicians opposed to the law that if it were annulled I would not dare to call an extra session, in view of the cost, which has been estimated at $75,000.

"It has been represented, too, that there is not time to enact a measure if this was knocked out.

Says People Want Primary Law.

"There is nothing to either claim. The people asked for a primary law, they got it and they have a right to keep it.

"The time is gone when politicians, through the calling of conventions and primaries, can have their own way.

"The voter, under the present primary law, turns out twice a year. One time he votes in the primary for the man of his choice; the other time he votes in the general election."

Gov. Folk made an address along these lines at the meeting of the National Hardware Men's Association banquet at the Planters Hotel Thursday night.

Before returning to Jefferson City he will confer with several of his St. Louis supporters.

MAN AND WOMAN FOUND DEAD TOGETHER IN THE WOODS

Pennsylvania Coroner Decides It Was a Case of Murder Followed by Suicide.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., March 27.—The discovery in the woods near here of the bodies of Frank Roberts and Mrs. Gustine Brizet disclosed a double tragedy.

The murder and suicide, as the incident is officially declared to be, occurred probably on Sunday when Roberts and Mrs. Brizet were seen to leave the woman's home together.

When found both had bullet holes in their heads, and close by the hand of Roberts lay a revolver with two chambers empty.

Both were French. Roberts was married.

WAGONLOAD OF SOMETHING IN CANS AND BOTTLES IS SPILLED

Driver Surveys Wreck and Philosophically Refrains From Weeping, as Per Old Proverb.

William Wetterer was driving his wagon at Delmar and Walton avenues when his horse became frightened at a sprinkling cart and ran away.

Wetterer jumped to the street. The horse ran half a block and was stopped by a telegraph pole.

The contents of the wagon, contained in cans and bottles, were scattered over the street. Wetterer, bruised, but otherwise uninjured, arose and looked about him.

"Well," he said, "there's an old proverb that says there's no use crying over it."

What was in the wagon?"

The sticks are 22½ inches in length and the heads are 2¼ inches in diameter. They are of gumwood, polished to represent cherry.

Mr. Granberg is rushing the order, as he says the Chicago Republicans are anxious to get into the political game.

CONDEMNED MAN PRAYS AND RESPITE COMES AT GALLOWS

Virginia Governor Grants Stay of Execution at Request of Kentucky Executive.

NORFOLK, Va., March 27.—After a night spent in prayer and preparing for death, Leo C. Thurman, condemned to die today, as a murderer, was granted a respite shortly before the hour of execution until April 10.

Thurman almost collapsed from the reaction after nerving himself to meet his fate bravely.

Every preparation for the execution had been made. The gallows had been erected and the trap arranged to be sprung. The intervention of Gov. Willson of Kentucky in Thurman's behalf led to Gov. Swanson's granting the respite. Thurman is a Kentuckian, and this led the Kentucky executive to ask for the stay.

Infectious Diseases Are Prevalent

During the spring of the year infectious and contagious diseases spread rapidly and should be guarded against by thorough disinfection in every home.

Whenever you scrub pour a little of a non-poisonous disinfectant into the water and when sweeping or dusting sprinkle it about the rooms.

It is cheaper to prevent spring sickness than to pay doctor bills, and if you use a non-poisonous preparation like CN Disinfectant which, mixes with water, it is very easily accomplished. Do not use carbolic acid or any other poisonous disinfectant but select a harmless one like CN.

"MORE DANGEROUS TO SAVE THAN TO SPEND"

—Prof. Zueblin

NEW YORK, March 27. "SAVING is more dangerous than spending," Prof. Charles Zueblin of the University of Chicago told the League for Political Education in an address. "The French peasant who can live decently on nothing a year and Markham's "Man with the Hoe" are not individuals to be emulated.

"People who are going to retire from business when they have $100,000 or a million can't do it. If they have waited until then to spend their money, they don't know how. We must correlate saving and spending. We must learn to spend and educate ourselves as we go along.

"Thrift leads often to a life that is not admirable. The conditions of the early dwellers in New England, made the splendid qualities of Puritanism, but they also created qualities which were a menace to society, and the Puritan conscience was one of them.

"Too much saving is for the individual advantage, but for the public disadvantage.

"If all the people put their money away investments would be of no account. Thrift may lead to niggardliness. It eats into the character. Even beginning with saving for the family, it ends in neglecting the family to save. We must save something, but it is a constant danger."

Contributions for Mrs. Martin.

The Post-Dispatch has received $1 from Mrs. William Schmidt of 109 Soulard street, and $1 from "M. L." for Mrs. Rose Martin, who, with her four small children, walked from her home at Wickes, Mo., to St. Louis. Mrs. Martin has been taken back to her home by her husband and the money has been forwarded to her there.

Your Way

You bake beans in a home oven.

The maximum heat is 200 degrees. In the center of the baking dish, by actual test, it is about 100 degrees.

It requires a fierce heat to break down the fibre of beans, and you cannot supply it.

The result is a heavy food, hard to digest.

You bake beans in a dry heat.

The result is the top beans are crisped. The beans in the center are not even half baked.

You burst the skins, so that the beans become mushy, rather than mealy. Every bean should be whole.

You add the tomato sauce afterwards. It becomes then a dressing, not a part of the beans.

You spend hours in the soaking, the boiling, the baking; and consume considerable fuel.

The bother is irksome. The dish that results is not very good, nor good for you. You think once a week is enough.

Yet it isn't your fault. You simply lack the facilities.

Our Way

We heat our ovens to 245 degrees.

A thermometer is attached to each oven, so the heat never varies. We bake the beans 90 minutes.

That terrific heat separates the atoms, so the digestive juices can get to them. A lesser heat will not do it. Beans, to be digestible, must be factory cooked.

We bake in live steam.

The result is, each separate bean is baked thoroughly, and all are baked alike. None are browned, none are broken.

The beans are baked until they are mealy. Yet they are nutty because they are whole.

We bake the beans, the tomato sauce and the pork all together, and get our delicious blend.

We send our beans to you ready to serve.

Put the can in hot water ten minutes—then open. That's all. You then have a steaming hot meal, fresh and savory.

And such a meal! Your people will want Van Camp's every day when they know them. So keep a dozen cans in the house.

Van Camp's BAKED WITH TOMATO SAUCE PORK AND BEANS

You don't know what you miss — you who don't use Van Camp's. Beans are Nature's choicest food — 23% nitrogenous; 84% nutriment. Like meat in their food value; not like it in cost. They are appetizing and hearty; all people like them. They should be a daily dish — not an occasional. You will eat more of them when you know Van Camp's.

We Pay $3.45

We could buy tomato juice for 75c per barrel. Yet we pay $3.45 for just the ripe tomatoes used in a barrel of ours.

The difference is this: Cheap tomato sauce is made from tomatoes picked green and ripened in shipment. Such sauce is flat. Else it is made of scraps from a canning factory. Such sauce is not rich.

We use only whole tomatoes ripened on the vines, picked when the juice fairly sparkles.

Thus we supply that superlative zest, that flavor, that tang, which Nature alone can give.

We spend exactly five times as much to make this sauce as other sauce costs ready-made. But you will say the result is worth it.

We Pay $2.10

We could buy beans as low as 30c per bushel, yet we pay $2.10 for ours.

We buy Michigan beans, because a certain soil there produces the best beans grown.

The choicest part of the crop is picked over by hand, so we get only the whitest, the plumpest, the fullest-grown.

We use only succulent, corn-fed pork.

No wonder your grocer has brands that cost less, yet pay him a better profit.

But you won't like the cheap beans. Your people won't eat them often.

It is far more economical to serve the best beans—beans that you can't serve too often. Then serve them in place of meat.

We have spent 47 years in perfecting this dish. And Van Camp's now command, by several times over, the largest sale in the world.

Prices: 10, 15 and 20c per can.

From the National Theater, Buda Pesth, will be here for one week, beginning Saturday, under the direction of Adolph Voss.

St. Louisans have the opportunity of seeing and hearing the "Merry Widow" Sextette as they appeared when this famous opera was first introduced in Hungary.

No doubt many are familiar with the fascinating strains of the "Merry Widow Waltz," and will greatly enjoy the music which these native Croats will render on their quaint instruments. A number will also find considerable interest in their native costumes, as they are exceedingly odd, to say the least.

Do not miss this rare musical treat.

Our clothing business is being built on a good, solid foundation

THE initial step was to ally ourselves with manufacturers who had achieved national reputation through the excellence and merits of their production. Having this high-grade apparel as a basis, the next step was to limit our profits to a very low percentage, thus insuring our patrons the greatest measure of value. The responsibility of this concern is thoroughly well-known. Our attitude towards patrons is one of utmost liberality, no transaction being complete unless you are absolutely satisfied. These conditions, coupled with the fact that we show very extensive lines of the finest Ready-for-Service Clothing, make this an ideal place to purchase apparel for men and boys.

We urge your examination of our varied lines, and careful inspection of our values. Prices range from $10.50 to $40.00

A Remarkable Sale of Men's Shirts

Values are $1.50, $2.00, $2.50
Prices are 69c, 95c, $1.10

CAN you imagine a more opportune sale of Shirts than this one, or one that is more remarkable from an economy point of view? We believe this occasion establishes new value-giving records for the beginning of the season. In the first place, these Shirts have a wide national reputation for quality, style and fit. If we could mention the brand we would throw consternation in the ranks of all exclusive haberdashers, and no doubt it would injure the manufacturer's reputation to some extent, as their products have not been identified with such low prices.

The makers, before they shipped this lot, took off every one of their labels, but if your eyes are sharp, in some places you can see the outline of the name in the place where the label was formerly sewed on.

But the Shirts themselves present the strongest argument for your buying them. They are made of fine materials, in the most desirable patterns; perfect in every respect. There are exactly 264 dozen, and they are priced a full third less than the retailers are required to pay. The line of sizes is complete.

SYMPHONY YEAR CLOSES WITH A NOTABLE TRIUMPH

Soloists and Orchestra Alike Contribute to Make Event Memorable.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM

A Wagnerian Evening of High Artistic Distinction at the Odeon.

SOLOISTS and orchestra alike distinguished themselves at the last subscription concert of the Symphony Society at the Odeon last night, a big and fashionable audience was assembled for the occasion, and the twenty-eighth year of the organization's existence came to its end with appropriate brilliancy.

Marking also the termination of the first season under Mr. Max Zach's conductorship, the event became doubly memorable.

The soloists of the evening were Mrs. Mary Hissem de Moss, soprano; Mr. Gwilym Miles, baritone, and Mr. Hugo Olk, violinist. The all-Wagner program in which they appeared gave fine opportunity for striking and impressive work. The opportunity was improved to the utmost.

Mrs. De Moss and Mr. Miles were first heard in the splendid duet from the second act of "The Flying Dutchman," sung in English. At once it became evident that a wise choice of voices suited to Wagnerian scores had been made. Mrs. De Moss' clear, true and powerful soprano revealed its quality to exceptional advantage, Mr. Miles' sonorous baritone, finely trained, delighted the ears of its hearers, and the two jointly scored an initial triumph of genuine distinction.

Excellent Work by Soloists.

In the program's second half, Mrs. De Moss gave a convincing demonstration of vocal worthiness in the trying "Tannhauser" aria, "Dich, theure Halle," sung in German, her work being of such high excellence as to provoke the most enthusiastic applause. Mr. Miles later sang in German the strongly dramatic score of Wotan's Farewell and the magic fire scene from "Die Walkuere," filling the great hall with the volume of his voice and coming well abreast of Mrs. De Moss in the favor of the audience.

Mr. Hugo Olk, an artist invariably certain to prove his worthiness of being heard in the best company, has as his allotted number the exquisite "Ein Albumblatt," which he played with the truest feeling, bringing out its many beauties in a most deft and masterly manner. The violin used by him seemed to be of uncommon tonal quality, and his remarkable technical skill was never more fully manifested. The audience showed its appreciation of his work with prolonged applause.

Orchestral Work of Highest Quality.

Of the orchestral numbers perhaps the most notable were the "Kaiser March" and the introduction of the third act of "Die Meistersinger," followed by the "Dance of the Apprentices" and the "Procession of the Guilds." The first number mentioned was played with magnificent spirit, and the "Meistersinger" numbers received artistic treatment that speaks volumes for the upward progress of he orchestra under Mr. Zach's direction. In addition to these offerings, the orchestra was heard in a selection from "Siegfried," including Siegfried's Passage to Brunhilde's Rock, the delicately beautiful dawn movement, and Siegfried's Rhine Journey, and also in the overture to "The Flying Dutchman," which was most competently presented.

NEGRO CLUBS A SERGEANT, IS CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Hurst, Knocked Down While Trying to Arrest Man, Returns to Beat After Treatment.

Sergeant Henry Hurst of the Carr Street District was knocked down and injured by Jude Kirkland, a negro, whom he was trying to arrest at Eleventh and Morgan streets Friday.

After holding the muzzle of a revolver in Hurst's face and after pulling the trigger four times, the negro clubbed the weapon and struck Hurst over the head repeatedly. While the Sergeant lay stunned on the sidewalk, citizens and policemen followed the negro two blocks and overpowered him. His revolver was loaded, but it failed to work.

Sergeant Hurst was taken to the City Dispensary and after three scalp wounds were dressed he returned to his precinct. Hurst's reason for attempting to arrest the negro was that he was pointed out as one of the participants in a fight.

130 Children Have Been Drilled for Presentation of "The Golden Sickle."

One hundred and thirty children from 6 to 14 years of age, of the Shepard School, on Wisconsin avenue and Potomac street, are being trained for an operetta, "The Golden Sickle," by Miss Eugenie Dussuchal, musical superintendent of the public schools, which will be given under the auspices of the Shepard School Patrons' Association at Lemp's Hall, Friday evening.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be used for the decoration of the new school building.

The children are to represent fairies and flowers. "Little Elsa" and a companion will be two little girls dressed in quaint Kate Greenaway costumes. They will dance minuets.

ONE-LEGGED MAN KICKS POLICE OFFICER; IS GIVEN 60 DAYS

Prisoner Seeks Job on Force, Saying He Is Too Lazy to Work.

Patrolman Gust Mertens of the Belleville police force was rudely shocked at the reply he received when he asked Charles Johnson where he was going. Johnson replied to the officer's query by saying: "With your kind assistance I would like to call on the Mayor of this town. I'm too lazy to work and I'd like to get a job on the police force."

Mertens started toward the Central Police Station with his prisoner, who had but one leg and walked with crutches, and at the corner of First and Illinois streets walked in front of his man for a few steps. He didn't remain there long. Johnson leaned back on his crutches when he saw the officer ahead of him and kicked him.

Mertens looked around and saw his prisoner laughing, joined in the mirth, but walked alongside the rest of the way. Johnson was sent to the Workhouse for 60 days on a charge of vagrancy.

Sigmond Baer Explains Speeding.

Sigmond Baer of 4437 Washington boulevard has written to Mayor Wells asking him to extend clemency to his chauffeur, Lee Lilly, who was arrested for speeding Tuesday night while taking Mr. Baer and members of his family home from a theater. Lilly was fined $25 in the City Hall Police Court. Mr. Baer, in his letter, says that the reason for the unusual speed was that a woman in the automobile was ill.

Avoid Secret Stomach Remedies

Because Most of Them Contain Dangerous Ingredients, Which Produce the Drug Habit.

Thousands of people, having dyspepsia or stomach troubles in some form continually "dope" themselves with all sorts of secret tonics, drugs, pills, cathartics, etc., which not only inflame and irritate the stomach and intestines, but in many cases cause the opium, morphine and cocaine habits.

You have a right and should demand to know what any medicine contains before you take it, unless it is put up or recommended by some reputable physician. Fakes and quacks will put most anything into their secret preparations, to make you like their useless stuff so as to want more of it until it makes you the victim of some drug habit, which will ruin your health in a short time.

Stuart Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret remedy, they do not contain injurious drugs, and they are recommended by thousands of physicians in the United States and Canada to their patients for dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, and all other stomach troubles resulting from improper digestion of food.

These wonderful tablets actually digest food because they contain the very elements that are required of a healthy stomach to properly digest food, thus acting as a substitute and giving the overworked digestive organs a rest and a chance to regain their former health, strength and vigor.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain fruit and vegetable essences, the pure concentrated tincture of hydrastis, and golden seal, which tone up and strengthen the mucous coats of the stomach and increase the flow of gastric and other digestive juices; lactose (extracted from milk); nux, to strengthen the nerves controlling the action of the stomach; bismuth to absorb gases and prevent fermentation, and pure aseptic pepsin (gov. test) of the highest digestive power. All of these are scientifically incorporated in these tablets or lozenges and constitute a complete, natural, speedy cure for any stomach trouble.

Write us for a free sample package. This sample alone will give you sufficient relief to convince you. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

WOMAN LOSES HER VOICE, FINDS IT THREE MONTHS LATER

Mrs. Fredericka Hall Nearly Faints From Surprise When She Hears Herself Talk.

When Mrs. Fredericka Hall, living on a farm near Edwardsville, had a violent coughing spell, she forgot she hadn't been able to speak for three months, and exclaimed, "Something caught in my throat."

She was so surprised when she heard her own voice that she came near fainting. She had believed she would never be able to talk again.

Three months ago the explosion at the Phoenix Powder Mills, five miles from her home, frightened her and immediately after the explosion she found she had lost her power of speech. She consulted an Edwardsville physician, who gave her little hope for recovery.

WOMAN DEFENDS ROOSEVELT, STARTS RIOT IN NEGRO MEETING

"Somebody Open the Window and Let Her Issue Forth," One Man Shouted.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Mrs. Amelia Charlotta Hansen, a white fortune teller, inserted herself unexpectedly into the proceedings of a negro mass meeting in West Sixtieth street last night and started a rumpus that could have been heard for half a mile.

A negro editor from Chicago, J. Max Barber, was speechmaking when Mrs. Hansen entered the hall, took a seat in the front row of the gallery and leaned over, the better to hear.

"Can Theodore Roosevelt say to the negroes before election, 'Come on, honey,' and after election say, 'Go to hell, you black rascals?'" Barber asked, and there was a roar of "No! You bet he can't."

At that point Mrs. Hansen jumped up, shook her fist toward the stage and spoke her mind.

"You can't talk about Roosevelt that way with me sitting around!" she cried. "I won't stand for it!"

A tumult of noises came from the auditorium:

"Put her out!"

"Somebody open a window and let her issue forth!"

The caretaker of the hall finally persuaded Mrs. Hansen to leave.

BURGLAR BRINGS BAD NEWS TO AID HIM ROB HOUSE

Tells Woman Her Husband Is Dying at the Hospital.

The neighborhood of Twenty-fourth and O'Fallon streets is agog over the unique plan devised by a burglar to rob the home of Mrs. Laura Sands, 1325A North Twenty-fourth street, by decoying her away on pretense that her husband was dying at the City Hospital.

Some of the women in the neighborhood, who gathered at the Sands home when they heard the news, actually talked to the man when he returned after Mrs. Sands' departure, apparently with the intention of carrying out his burglary plan. In their eagerness to learn further details of Sands' injury and to talk the news over among themselves that frustrated the man's plan.

Breaks "Bad News" Gently.

The man called at the house Thursday afternoon and made a pretence of breaking the "bad news" gently to Mrs. Sands. She finally extracted from him that her husband, an employe of the Laclede Gaslight and Power Co., had been shot in the lung and leg and was sinking rapidly at the hospital. The man posed as a fellow employe of Sands.

The man wanted to wait inside while Mrs. Sands dressed, but she would not permit it. After she dressed she took her 6-year-old daughter, Jennie, to a neighbor, whom she told of the injury to her husband. The neighbor told others.

Talks With Neighbors.

After getting on a Cass avenue car the man made an excuse for leaving Mrs. Sands, saying he had almost forgotten work he had to do. A few minutes later he appeared at the house and found that several women had congregated there. He talked to them 15 minutes detailing the character of Mr. Sands' injuries, apparently hoping they would depart, then left.

When Mrs. Sands reached the hospital she learned her husband was not there. After telephoning several other hospitals she telephoned to the gas company and found he was at work.

The police have a good description of the man, and are looking for him. They think he may be the "gas meter" thief, who has robbed several homes on a pretext of being a gas company employe.

Husband who Took Family Name of Alleged Slocum Victim Is Sought.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Suspecting that Emma Seelig, who was supposed to have lost her life in the Slocum disaster is still alive, the German Consul-General has asked ex-Coroner Gustave A. WOMEN SEEK TO MARRY RICH MAN TIRED OF LIVING

Belleville Resident Who Asked Aid in Killing Self Has Proposals.

CANNOT CHOOSE WIFE

Requests Advice of Justice Who Gave Him Revolver for Suicide.

Ewald Siebert, 60 years old, who recently sought the assistance of Justice Wangelin of Belleville in an attempt to kill himself, now wants the same Justice to help him pick a wife. Siebert has written Justice Wangelin a letter telling him that he has been inundated with proposals from maidens from all over the country since the story of his double attempt at suicide was printed.

Asked Police to Buy Acid.

Siebert wanted to commit suicide when he was arraigned in Justice Wangelin's court for celebrating St. Patrick's Day in Belleville. He asked the Chief of Police to buy him a bottle of carbolic acid, but the Justice handed him a revolver and told him to use that.

Siebert was too nervous to pull the trigger after he had placed the muzzle of the weapon in his ear. He asked a bystander to pull the trigger, but no one volunteered. A friend whom he had given a quarter with which to buy carbolic acid brought castor oil and Siebert drank the contents of the bottle, thinking it was poison.

After waiting two minutes to die he became angry because his friends had played a joke on him. Siebert told Chief Nebgen of the Belleville police force that he would will him all his property, amounting to $60,000, if he would buy him carbolic acid.

Women Hasten to Propose.

The story of Siebert's offer and attempted suicide was printed all over the United States and as a result the rural mail carriers on Siebert's route have been burdened with leap year proposals.

Siebert, in his letter to Justice Wangelin, said the proposals had come from nearly every State in the Union. He expressed a doubt as to the sincerity of some of the missives he had received and asked the Justice's advice.

Justice Wangelin stated that he could do nothing for Siebert in his new predicament, except tie the knot when he brought the maiden selected.

KING ALLIGATOR REFUSES TO EAT BECAUSE HE CAN'T GET CROCODILE'S TAILS

More, Boss Saurian of Bronx Zoo, Has Not Taken Nourishment in Four Months.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Dr. Tanner and the trials arising from his famous 40-day fast are like a seven-course dinner compared to the self-imposed suffering of Mose, the king alligator of the Bronx Park Zoo. He has not had a thing to eat since he bit a foot off of the tail of Willy, the crocodile, and that was four months ago.

Curator Dittmars has tackled starvation cases before, but never such a tough one as Mose. The boa constrictor frequently has been off his feed, but he sits up to table when Mr. Dittmars serves squab, and if the hippopotamus gets finicky a bushel of leeks promotes an appetite which has to be checked with a bale of excelsior to prevent apoplexy.

Mr. Dittmars says it is necessary for a man to imagine that he has four square yards of mouth with which to relish dainties in order to appreciate Mose's feelings. Mose is as empty now as a rain barrel after a drought, but he won't eat.

It seems that Mose, previous to four months ago, contracted the habit of eating on the installment plan. He would snip off a few inches of crocodile and thrive on it to the exclusion of other food. Mr. Dittmars noticed that his crocodiles were shrinking, but he condoned the offense until the day that Mose shortened Willy by at least a foot. That was too much and Mose was segregated.

BOY SAYS HE KILLED SISTER

Confesses After Eight Months That Dying Girl Shielded Him.

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., March 27.—Breaking the silence he had maintained for eight months Henry Oriaskey, 10 years old, has confessed that he fired the shot which killed his 8-year-old sister, Louise Oriaskey, July 28, 1907. He accused two other boys, but has confessed that after the accident he induced his sister to promise not to tell who shot her.

This promise the dying child kept, despite every effort to make her explain the shooting.

DUKE ABR[illegible] REACHES LONDON

Still Refuses to Discuss Engagement to Miss Elkins.

LONDON, March 27.—The Duke of Abruzzi has arrived in London on his way back to Italy from the United States. He refused to discuss the engagement to Miss Catherine Elkins.

A message from Italy quotes the King as telling the Kaiser in a conversation at Venice that he does not know himself whether the Duke is to wed Miss Elkins and will have no definite information until Abruzzi reaches home, April 1.

NOTHING ELSE LIKE DIAPEPSIN TO RELIEVE ALL INDIGESTION

Does it ever occur to you how busy that little stomach of yours is? It actually only holds three pints, though in one year you force it to take in 2500 pounds of material, digest it and prepare it for assimilation to the blood. Do you wonder at the number of cases of Indigestion and Stomach trouble? You crowd it with steaks and pastry, irritate its juices with spices and acids and expect this little four-ounce mill to do its work.

Is there any wonder that your food passes undigested, or lays like a lump of lead in the stomach? That every thing you eat turns to acid, Stomach gas and Stomach poison, putrefying the intestines and digestive canals, causing Biliousness, Headaches, Dizziness and Indigestion, Heartburn, Nauseous Breath, Intestinal griping, constipation and other more dangerous symptoms?

Call your disease what you will—Indigestion, Gastritis, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Catarrh of Stomach, etc.—you know the real name, the real disease is fermentation of the food you eat—a sour Stomach, which belches gas and erupts undigested food or causes a feeling of nausea and miserableness.

Don't fool yourself any longer; take fifty cents to your Pharmacist for a case of Pape's Diapepsin. Eat one of these 22-grain Triangules after this evening's meal, and five minutes later your stomach will do what a healthy Stomach should—that is, turn every bite you eat into bodily nourishment and without you realizing that you have a stomach. Each triangule will digest 3000 grains of food without the help of the stomach, because they contain just the elements which a good, strong, healthy stomach has. Pape's Diapepsin is a thoroughly tested prescription for Indigestion and Stomach trouble, which plainly tells on the case the complete formula, and is as harmless as candy and as pleasant to the taste.

How promptly you find permanent relief merely depends upon how soon you make up your mind to take Diapepsin.

If you go now and get a 50-cent case you will feel fine a few minutes after eating a Triangule, and it is a safe promise that your home will never be without Diapepsin, as there is no other household preparation which comes so handy so many times.

Others of the family may eat something which does not agree with them, then it is there to give relief. * * *

Corner Broadway and Morgan

What glasses are to weak eyes, Cascarets are to weak bowels. Old people constantly need them, and the need is a natural one.

You old people—Cascarets are particularly for you.
You who don't exercise as much as you used to. You who like the easy chair.
You whose steps are slow, and whose muscles are less elastic. You must realize that your bowels have also become less active.
They need this gentle help every day.

Don't regard Cascarets as physic.
They stimulate the bowels just as some foods will do; just as exercise would do, if you took enough of it.
They are not harsh, like salts and cathartics.
The help which they give to weak bowels is just as natural and gentle as the spur of youth.

When eyes grow dim, you help them.
Do the same with the bowels when age makes them less active. There is nothing more important.
Costive bowels mean that decaying food is clogged there. And the ducts of the bowels suck its poisons into the blood.
You can't feel well until this is corrected.
But do it gently—not with a bowel irritant. And do it regularly—one Cascaret a day.
Coax the weak bowels—don't drive them.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure you get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The price is 50c, 25c and

FAMILY WOULD SELL HOTEL TO SAVE SINNERS

Widow, Two Daughters, and Son Give All for the Heathen.

ENRICHED DURING FAIR

Four Needed Money to Carry on Work in Their Mission.

LEFFINGWELL HOTEL STAND—For sale; 2732 Pine; elegantly furnished; money needed for Christian work. (A recent advertisemen in the Post-Dispatch.)

In penance for the worldly round of gaiety in which until recently their lives were spent, Mrs. Francina De Moss, a widow, her two handsome daughters and her son will sell the 35-room Leffingwell Hotel, 2732 Pine street, and use the proceeds in maintaining a mission which they have conducted at their own expense all winter at 2906 Olive street.

For the hot summer months, they will purchase a large tent. John, the son, who has just reached his majority, preaches nightly in the street before the mission.

His 16-year-old sister, Grace, leads the singing in her pure young soprano and their older sister, Mrs. Verna O. Stewart, plays the organ. Mrs. De Moss is the moving spirit in the pious family.

Successful During Fair.

They came to St. Louis from Iowa four years ago, and opened the Leffingwell Hotel. Their purpose was to make money, and they succeeded, especially during the World's Fair.

Then John fell ill with appendicitis, and was preserved, his family declare, without an operation by his prayers of himself and his mother.

In gratitude for what they considered a signal interposition of Providence, they became ardent converts to Methodism, and, their house came to be known in the neighborhood as the "Holiness Hotel," from the hymns which resounded day and night from its walls.

It was soon remarked that all the roomers in the hotel either became converts or fled, so constant was the siege of prayers, sermons and psalms.

In the stead of the fugitives, Mrs. De Moss recruited her household from the needy and poverty stricken, who, while devout worshipers, could pay no room rent.

Sacrificed for Mission.

Six months ago they opened a mission. John was working downtown as a stenographer, and it took every cent he earned and more, too, to pay the rent of a hall. For the first time in his life, he wore patched trousers and dispensed with an overcoat.

GIRL "DETECTIVE" AND CHUM WHO SEEK VILLAIN OF PLAY IN WHICH THEY STARRED

BERTHA LESEN. GRACE HATFIELD.

GIRL DETECTIVE OF PLAY TRAILS REAL "VILLAIN"

Amateur Actress Seeks "Shadow" Who Disappeared With Costumes.

This is a real detective story, no Nick Carter pipe dream. The folks over in Gillespie, Ill., will verify every word of it.

Chapter I.—The Villain Comes to Town.

IT WAS late in February when the Porter Stock Company, a dramatic organization with a repertoire, struck Gillespie. A week later the troupe disbanded. The players went back to their homes with the exception of the villain. He remained in Gillespie, and after a short time convinced the young people of the hamlet that he was not as black-hearted as the dramatists had painted him.

Chapter II.—The Villain Becomes a Hero.

THE villain soon became a hero. He formed a dramatic club and members of the younger set in Gillespie became Thespians. In fact, under the careful training of the professional acter, they soon became artistic enough to "put on a shew."

Chapter III.—Heroine and Villain Brought Together.

LAST Monday night the Gillespie Dramatic Club produced the "Man of Mystery" at the Opera House in Staunton, near Gillespie. The folks went wild over the piece. It was so cleverly acted. The "Man of Mystery," who turned out to be a robber disguised as a preacher, was admirably portrayed by the former villain of a defunct stock company.

Miss Bertha Lesem, one of the belles of Gillespie, took the part of Kate Burke, the girl detective," so well that the audience proclaimed her the best talent they had ever seen. Grace Hatfield, another society girl of Gillespie, was cast in the role of "Nellie Mertens, Kate's chum."

In the play Kate Burke dogged the footsteps of The Shadow, by which the "Man of Mystery" was known. She foiled him at every turn and made him say "Curse the luck" so often that the Town Marshal, who was in the audience, was going to arrest him for swearing.

The final scene showed "The Shadow" sipping a poisonous lotion which he had prepared for "Kate Burke." She had so completely mastered him at every turn of his wicked schemes that finally, in desperation, he had resolved to end his life. Before committing suicide he declared dramatically, "The Shadow has at last escaped her." The audience stood upon its feet and applauded vigorously as the curtain was rung down.

Chapter IV.—Villain Is Trailed in Real Life.

THE day after the show "Kate Burke, the little detective," who was now once more Miss Bertha Lesem, and her chum, "Nellie Merton," who was again Grace Hatfield, visited the Opera House in Staunton to take an inventory of the receipts and costumes. Both were missing.

"Where's the shadow?" asked Kate.

"Gone," replied Nellie.

"This is too much like a play," suggested Kate. "Let's investigate."

At the hotel the girls learned, to their dismay, that "The Shadow" had departed on an early train and had shipped a large box by express.

"It's all off," said Nellie, dejectedly.

"Not while Kate Burke is still alive," said Miss Lesem. "The villain will not long be happy, for I am on his track."

The two girls caught an interurban trolley and sped to East St. Louis. Miss Lesem soon leadned that "The Shadow" had been there with the large box.

"I'll not give up the case," declared Miss Lesem as she and Miss Hatfield returned to Gillespie. Accompanied by her chum, she visited Police Headquarters in St. Louis Thursday. As fast as they could talk the two explained the case to Detective Schenck.

"You will know him by his voice," said Miss Lesem. "I hardly know how to describe it. It sounds like a fog horn and I am sure he cannot disguise it. He is 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighs about 170 pounds. His hair is gray and thick and there is a cowlick in the center of his forehead."

"Is he well dressed?" asked Schenck.

"No, he's an actor," replied Miss Lesem.

The costumes, consisting of cowboy togs and girl detective disguises, were rented from a St. Louis costumer. Their value is estimated at $150.

CAR ROBBERS ESCAPE UNDER FIRE IN BOAT

Three Who Were Pursued by Railroad Detectives, Caught Later, Confess.

LEADER IS PARADISE

Man With Heavenly Name Took Stolen Underwear to Wyoming Street Home.

The three men who robbed freight cars in East Carondelet and fled in a skiff under a shower of bullets from railroad detectives are under arrest, and all have confessed.

Pater Paradise, said to be the leader, gave himself up after he heard that Edward Quentin, caught during the chase, had confessed, and Gustav Nutt, the third, was arrested Friday in a North Market street restaurant where he worked.

Missouri Pacific detectives Lehmann and Betts watched the men rob the cars Wednesday night, and opened fire on them as they started through a cornfield from the railroad yards toward the river.

Flee, Spilling Loot.

The thieves spilled $400 worth of booty as they fled, but when Nutt and Paradise jumped into a skiff and rowed for the Missouri shore they had a quantity of underwear and other merchandise, taken from the cars.

Quentin, who was caught, pleaded guilty Thursday and was bound over to the grand jury.

Paradise heard of this, and Thursday night he went to the home of Patrolman Hilker, whom he knows, and gave himself up. His home at 1303 Wyoming street was searched, and shirts and underwear were taken to be used as evidence.

Confession Ends Game.

Nutt's arrest followed, from Paradise's confession. He is held at the Central District Police Station, and has confessed that he and his companions robbed a house at 717 Shenandoah avenue last Saturday night of clothes and jewelry.

Paradise did the work, Nutt says, while the other two stood guard. He says Paradise taught him to steal.

The police believe the three are responsible for other burglaries. Their ages range from 18 to 21.

GIRL ELOPES WITH FILIPINO; NOT FORGIVEN

Family Seeks De Quiros' Bride, Who Was Miss Nellie Reed.

Miss Nellie Reid, who eloped to Belleville and became the bride of Simeon de Qurious, a Filipino, will never obtain the forgiveness of her family, according to statements made at the Reid home, 4773 Easton avenue, Friday.

A brother of the bride said that he is anxious to find the bridegroom. When the couple returned from Belleville, after being married Thursday afternoon, they were met at Third street and Washington avenue by the bride's father, August Reid, and his brother, J. E. Reid.

Strikes His Son-in-Law.

"We have been married," said the Filipino, extending his hand.

"Oh, you have, have you?" replied Reid, shooting out a hard fist that landed squarely between the little brown son-in-law's eyes, knocking him down. Bystanders prevented further hostilities and the bride and bridegroom hurried away.

De Qurious is a cook's helper at the Hotel Jefferson. Miss Reid met him when he was with the Filipino constabulary at the World's Fair.

Invited Him to Parties.

"She used to invite him to parties here," said her brother, "but we didn't think she was in love with him."

The couple was accompanied to Belleville by Petio Reiduca, a Filipino; Miss Daisy White, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Kathryn Mason. The bride is 24 years old.

YOUTH WANTED IN CONNECTION WITH CAR THEFT SURRENDERS

Police Take Skirts and Other Clothing in Search of Peter Paradise's Home.

Peter Paradise, 18 years old, suspected of being implicated in the East Carondelet freight car robbery Wednesday night, is held at the Soulard Street Police Station. He gave himself up after he learned that policemen had searched his home at 1303 Wyoming street and had taken away shirts and underwear they believe to have been stolen from the cars.

Two Missouri Pacific detectives opened fire on four boxcar thieves as they were escaping with their booty, and they dropped part of it in a cornfield between the yards and the river. One of them, who gave his name as Thomas Quentin, was caught. The others fled in a skiff to St. Louis.

LIVESTOCK KILLED IN WRECK

Seven Cars of Hogs and Cattle Are Thrown Into Ditch.

Seven cars of hogs and cattle were thrown into the ditch and many animals killed when a Burlington train struck a switch point at Texas Junction, 27 miles north of St. Louis, early Friday.

The engine and first seven cars overturned, practically all the cattle in them being killed. The train crew was uninjured. The dead animals will be turned over to a hide and tallow company.

J. C. Jewett of Shelbina, Mo., who was accompanying several cars of cattle, was bringing them to St. Louis for sale. He says there were only two passengers on the train and neither was injured.

ILLINOIS TAX LAW IS TESTED

Coal Company Resists Levy on Its Capital Stock.

The constitutionality of the law exempting the capital stock of coal mining companies, manufacturing concerns, newspapers and livestock breeders from taxation will be tested by an appeal from the Circuit Court of St. Clair County. The case was argued before Judge Holder at Belleville by State's Attorney Tecklenburg and the attorneys of the Consolidated Coal Co. of St. Louis, which sought to restrain the levy against a portion of its capital stock. The assessment was made by the Board of Review on the advice of Attorney-General Stead, who held the law unconstitutional. Judge Holder granted a temporary injunction. Mr. Tecklenburg, supporting a demurrer, contended that the difference between the value of the real and personal property of a company and amount of capital stock should be assessed. Judge Heider took the case under advisement.

DEFENDING THE FILTHY BAKERIES.

St. Louisans who do not fancy bread made in bakeries where cats and dogs sleep in the dough or on the loaves, where sewage seeps in at the corners and is tracked about the floor, and where men and women in all stages of communicable diseases are employed, will have an interest in the fact that a committee of the Council has pronounced the new inspection act unconstitutional.

We have not been in the habit of going to the Municipal Assembly for constitutional law, but it is well known that there is no pull too low to find some favor there. When the "constitutional" objections to sanitary bakeries shall have been fully analyzed it will be found that they rest only on the objections of interests which find regulation inconvenient and expensive.

WHEN THE DEMOCRATS CHEERED.

It is said that when the President's recent message was read in the House of Representatives the Democrats shouted and laughed and cheered over the passage recommending tariff revision. Evidently they thought they were vindicated.

If they will refer to their national platform of 1896 they will find that, out of deference to their Populistic allies, they then declared that "until the money question (16 to 1) is settled we are opposed to any agitation for further changes in our tariff laws."

Republicans usually profess a willingness to revise the tariff in the interest of the people, though it will have to be admitted that they invariably revise it in the interest of monopoly.

The Democrats are the only people who are on record against any kind of revision until a counterfeit dollar can be established as the unit of value.

No wonder that they hooted and laughed and hurrahed when Mr. Roosevelt proposed a policy which they should have been advocating all these years.

A HARD SUMMER FOR CHAUTAUQUAS.

We take it as a most inauspicious augury that there is to be no program at Piasa Chautauqua this summer, owing to circumstances over which the Finance Committee has no control.

Ordinarily periods of financial depression are attended by a boom in culture. When money gets a solar plexus and has to go to bed other values are booked to rise. Ideas and ideals thrive and there is such a thirst for information on all sides that distributing bureaus are compelled to run overtime and the orators have to spread themselves in order to supply the demand.

But the case appears to be different this time and we hardly know how to account for it. When culture is permitted to go to seed and Piasa is given over to long grass and chigres it means that many another forum on the same circuit will go similarly unkempt and there will be slim picking among the weeds generally for the Pole discoverers, naval heroes, reformers, orators, statesmen and celebrities of refined summer vaudeville.

We grieve especially for Peary, Walter Wellman, Richmond P. Hobson and the Right Hon. Champ Clark.

MR. TAFT'S GREAT CONFIDENCE.

There is no lack of confidence in the claims put forth by the managers of Mr. Taft as to his strength in the Chicago convention. According to their estimates, he will be nominated on the first ballot without the votes of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Assurance is a valuable asset in politics as well as elsewhere, but it may be doubted if Mr. Taft would care to be nominated on the first ballot with the votes of the great states named above thrown against him. To secure a nomination of that sort the solid vote of the South would be necessary, and while that vote is theoretically on an equality with the vote of any other section, it does not actually nominate candidates in Republican conventions as against the wishes of the great states of the North, most of them essential to party success.

Probably Mr. Taft and his enthusiastic friends will be content to win on the second or third ballot—provided the well-advertised stampede to Roosevelt does not take place earlier.

THE PRESIDENT'S POOR TENNIS.

Confirmation that the President is a miserably poor tennis player piles up like Pelion on Ossa. The Bishop of London's silence was pretty conclusive, but Forester Gifford Pinchot clinches the matter by a non-committal interview given in evident embarrassment.

In St. Louis on Thursday he was asked point blank, "What kind of game does the President play?"

"Excellent! Bully! Perfectly splendid!" he exclaimed with the eagerness of one who doth protest too much. Yet when the question followed, "Did you ever beat him?" the good man almost swooned and fell back upon the topic of tall timbers.

The President's game must have been something unthinkable when the mention of it produces such an effect upon one of his own appointees who would be only too glad if he could truthfully confess his own inferiority.

According to Helle, Boni has a wheel in his head. But he has not a wheel in his pocket.

BRYAN'S ATTACK UPON JOHNSON.

In politics of the higher order, even when the fiercest contests prevail, it is not customary for rival candidates to assail each other. Vituperation is left to others and there have been few campaigns at the end of which the two principals could not have met each other with self-respect and courtesy.

If the proprieties are thus scrupulously observed by men highly antagonistic and owing allegiance to different parties it would seem to be possible and desirable that men belonging to the same political household should carry themselves quite as circumspectly. To impugn a rival's honor or to question his motives ought to be an impossibility.

Mr. Bryan's recognition of the presidential aspirations of Gov. Johnson has been confined to a "warning" in his newspaper that money is being used among Democrats in certain states of the Mississippi Valley to thwart the will of the people—the will of the people in this case being the renomination of Mr. Bryan at Denver.

Without a particle of proof and with no reason whatever for so much as a suspicion of wrongdoing, Gov. Johnson and his supporters are thus stigmatized in advance of the convention as mere mercenaries by the one man whose attempt to monopolize the presidential honors of his party they have assailed.

It would appear that every consideration of honor, fair play and party loyalty would protest against slander of this description. What can be its motive unless its author hopes, in the event of his own defeat at Denver, to prepare the ground for another silent bolt like that which he ordained against Judge Parker in 1904?

Much trickery is resorted to and assented to in politics, but within certain lines there is a keen sense of honor among our public men. Politicians who do not keep their word are destroyed. Politicians who do not obey popular instructions are soon lost to sight. Politicians who carry their fights beyond the conventions do not prosper thereafter. Politicians to be successful must abide by the decisions of their party; they must be "regular," and they must act in good faith.

Is Mr. Bryan's position in his party and before the country so unique that he is absolved from all these restraints, and is he at liberty, when his supremacy is questioned in any quarter, to brand a rival as a corruptionist, who, if so, should be defeated at all hazards?

Mr. Bryan's personal character is good, but it is no better than Gov. Johnson's. Gov. Johnson has been through the fire of important public office. Mr. Bryan has not enjoyed that distinction. Gov. Johnson is held in higher esteem today by men of all parties than he was a year ago, two years ago or four years. He has stood the test. No test has yet been applied to Mr. Bryan except that of the polls, where the results were far from satisfactory.

If Mr. Bryan believes that Gov. Johnson is merely the creature of bribe givers he cannot support him if nominated. If he can prove what he says no other Democrat can support him. Whether he believes it or not and whether he proves it or not, he has already placed himself beyond the realm of honorable rivalry and he has fixed in the minds of his thick-and-thin followers prejudices which cannot be easily removed.

What was never reasoned into a man's head can never be reasoned out of it. No one is cleverer in action upon this fruism than Mr. Bryan himself. No one has gained more by adhering to the idea that a prejudice is often more active than a principle. He has done what he could to prejudice the case of an honorable man, a faithful Democrat and a great Governor, whose only offense, it must be held, is that he and his friends have ventured to favor a change of leadership in the party.

No other political organization was ever managed on these lines. The unhappy experience of the Democrats with a policy so vicious and demoralizing is likely to endure as a frightful example to the end of time.

OPEN DEATH TRAPS ON THE STREETS.

Nothing short of doing away with the grade crossings altogether can materially reduce the danger from that cause in St. Louis, but the purpose of Chief Creecy and Street Commissioner Travilla to compel the railroads to comply with the ordinance and provide gates and watchmen at crossings is worth pushing vigorously, both for its own sake and as a means to the larger end.

This will illustrate and further emphasize the extent of the deadly danger. For example, 12 unprotected grade crossings are shown to exist in 20 blocks. Thousands of people are daily compelled to cross unprotected and unguarded tracks over which hundreds of trains must pass, and switching is going on constantly. Some of the busiest thoroughfares in the city lead into open deathtraps.

The only conclusive answer to these conditions is an imperative demand for abolishment of the crossings. When the conditions become sufficiently feared the demand will be made in such a manner that public servants, of whatever character, will feel bound to enforce it upon the railroads. The way is open legally. The roads are at the mercy of the city. It remains only for the people to command their servants—to make an issue of the grade crossings.

Meanwhile, if possible, the utmost letter of the law should be exacted of the roads with respect to gates and guards. Such exaction, which involves heavy expense to the roads, should tend to reduce their opposition to the ultimate purpose.

The Honorable "Fingy" Conner's statement that Mr. Bryan has been "hornswoggled" in New York is hotly denied by the Honorable Charles F. Murphy of Tammany, who objects to the word as not meeting the case at all. It is little disagreements of this kind in the Democratic ranks that give the Republicans the impression in most places that one of their nominations is equivalent to an election.

In the Southern States at this time, when contesting delegations appear in nearly every Republican convention, the Taft men may be known by their official titles.

New York's delegation to Denver will go uninstructed, as usual of late. There was a time when New York spoke with some emphasis in a Democratic convention, but it is now merely a spectator. Probably Tammany can stand it as long as anybody else can.

The Republican Club of Chicago has ordered 25,000 Big Sticks which it will carry in campaign celebrations. Uncle Joe Cannon had better get to work and cut 25,000 fence rails if he wants the nomination.

The report from Italy that the King approves the Abruzzi-Elkins marriage and particularly requests that no dowry be settled on the bride is almost too good to be true. Steve will have to be shown.

In this senatorial race Bonanza Bill Stone will have to run pretty fast if he hopes to run away from his record.

Bob Evans has admitted that our armor belt is awash. However, we still have one leg to stand on.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Colored Gentleman.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Allow me to extend my sincere thanks for your prompt and able definition of colored gentleman, and I hope it will enlighten your bewildered inquirer. I intend to add it to my treasure of collections of clippings. E. V. S.

Money the Leveler.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In answer to the question of S. E. Mo. as to what is a colored gentleman? I would say, from observation in both North and South, that he is a negro who has the money to buy, usually at an advanced price. The almighty dollar is a leveler or an elevator, as you are pleased to view it.

A Forgotten Gas District.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I wish someone would tell the Laclede Gaslight Co. to put a pay station on Shaw avenue (Dago Hill). We had one there, but the lady gave it up. They forgot it, I guess. We have no trouble only when we want to pay our bills; then we lose three hours on cars to go to main office. A RESIDENT.

Approves an Editorial.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I cannot too heartily express to you my admiration for the editorial in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, headed, "Brewers to the Rescue." You deserve the thanks of this whole community and your entire constituency for the stand you take, and I trust that you may soon find that you are not only on the side of justice, but with the majority of the people of this city and State. JOSEPHUS STEPHAN.

"Three Lansdowne Passengers."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In regard to "X. Cuseme" of the 24th, I wish him to please understand us girls correctly. We are the "three young ladies" you heard discussing prices on hats, hose and silk suits. We knew you were a bachelor. We knew that you were listening to our conversation and therefore filled you full of "smoke" to our hearts' content. We were only teasing you. You are not the first of your kind to listen. Each one of us keep company with young men whose earnings are small—say about $13 a week. We know what money is. I have not spent $10 for wearing apparel since January 1. I could spend a heap more, just for the asking, and I've never yet been refused. THREE YOUNG LADIES.

A Broad Definition of Gentleman.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In the discussion as to what constitutes a gentleman, Southern, Northern, black or white, I should like to say a word. In the Eastern Continent, a gentleman is one who lives upon an income derived from either money invested or land. He does no work and carries on no business. In the South a gentleman is one who belongs only to the Anglo-Saxon race, who is gallant to the ladies of his own race, clean in personal habits, patronizing to inferiors, and who does not labor. In the North a gentleman is any man with a pure heart and civil manners, who believes in the Golden Rule and in personal cleanliness. He may be Jew or Gentile, black or white, a servant or a millionaire, a laborer or a man of leisure, for this is America.

Liquor in the Armory.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Old Guard's argument in Wednesday's issue of the Post-Dispatch was truth as far as he went, but he did not tell all the truth that is practiced by the Officers' Club, which is very contrary to the rules and regulations governing the various National Guards armories; as to the maintenance and disposition of liquor on the premises of the First Regiment's armory. There is a refrigerator that receives 150 pounds of ice daily to cool the bottled beer and necessaries to make all kinds of mixed drinks to be served to the officers at their will, signing for same to be paid for on the first day of each month. I deem if this situation was investigated by Adjutant-General De Armond he would immediately prohibit the disposition of liquor on these premises that is used for armory purposes.

OLD GUARD STILL IN SERVICE.

The Care of Providence.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The writer derives daily pleasure from reading some of the "Letters From the People" and until now has refrained from airing his own opinions through this medium. But a contribution in Tuesday's issue advocating rear-end signals on street cars brings up a question that comes to my mind daily, viz: "How do so many people escape injury in passing from cars and crossing streets?" That Providence cares particularly for fools and drunkards is aptly demonstrated in the many cases where people thrust themselves in front of street cars, automobiles and vehicles, defying all laws of mechanical possibility and human effort, escaping only by sheer luck. Without reference to Miss Kobush's misfortune in particular, but to all accidents in the rear of street cars I would like to hear how K. P. Trying would so equip cars with a safety appliance capable of preventing accidents in their wake.

OBSERVER.

The Gentleman.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The question is being agitated as to what is a gentleman, and the briefest definition is, possibly, a man who is gentle. The veriest "tough" will straighten himself up and say, "I'm a gentleman, I want you to understand," and we may presume that the President of the United States and the King of England (the two highest personages in their respective countries) are gentlemen. The gulf between the highest and the lowest is wide, but it is filled with so-called gentlemen of so many grades and characterizations that the term gentleman is quite hazy. I feel free to discuss this matter because I lay no claim to the title. For many years I was an auctioneer, and to guard against ladies buying articles for the fun of the thing, and forgetting to call and pay for the articles purchased, I insisted upon a cash deposit and as the bill increased called for more deposits, and was told over and over again I "was no gentleman." As we never "see ourselves as others see us," I thought possibly the ladies were right. So I lay no claim to the title. There are still a good many ladies in St. Louis who may recall the day and the place when they "sassed back" at the auctioneer. J. R. BROLASKI.

SUGGESTION.

I have recently had an idea,
And venture today to reveal it.
My duty, of course, being plainly
To publish, and not to conceal it.
For ideas are, I have scarce any doubts,
Extremely rare bipeds of late hereabouts.

My idea is, that in view of
The rather surprising dissension
On bribery—some of us counting it crime,
And others still only convention—
Why not vote upon it, and let the response
Determine just what the majority wants?

These fine moral questions are trying.
And what though we all may endeavor
To show one another our errors,
There's never an end to it, ever,
Except as we vote and achieve its adoption
Or renunciation in pure local option.

"Yes. He cultivates motorists."

BOTTLED UP.

TWO OLD HOMESTEADS.

If we are to believe a local writer who apparently had more space in which to elaborate upon it than he had time to think it over, St. Louisans chiefly put in their time last week comparing the old homestead of the Rosmer family with that of Uncle Josh Whitcomb. We are told that "those who saw both Rosmersholm and The Old Homestead know where their sense of the dramatic unities was best satisfied, and there is not one of them who does not feel that The Old Homestead will still be delighting great audiences when Rosmersholm has made its last exit and the curtain has been rung down on it forever.

But this cannot always be true, thanks to our women's clubs, our Art Museum, and seed sown by the World's Fair. We are still reubens, but we are coming into town as fast as Dobbin can trot. If we went to see only the Whitcomb place, without going around to see what the Rosmer manor is like, we might just as well resign ourselves to a farmers' hades. But, thank goodness, we are not that provincial, anyway. The art revivals in Forest Park are enthusiastically attended, and every time Mr. Zolnay and his assistants call for penitents a number go forward and request prayerful commendation to the light. As a result, while many who attended the performances of Rosmersholm inwardly bawled for the quartet and the general appleknocking atmosphere of The Old Homestead, they gave Ibsen a hearing.

A community is not doomed to everlasting reubenism when it displays our admirable spirit. We don't care for the plays our children are to understand, but we are willing to go from The Old Homestead to Rosmersholm, and from Way Down East to Man and Superman. Which is a very good sign. For just as sure as genius scintillates in the new plays and calves bah-bah in the old, we shall learn in time properly to classify things of the heart and things of the head, and to fit Denman Thompson and Henrik Ibsen each in his proper niche.

Meanwhile, an occasional proclamation that Denman is a greater luminary than Henrik is doing no harm. It reveals us in the commendable spirit of being unashamed of what our fathers thought, even if we have learned better.

R. W. S.—Panama Canal, 12 locks. Estimated cost $250,000,000. Men now employed 36,000, of whom 6000 are Americans. It will take five years to complete the locks and dams. We have spent $1,500,000 for sanitation. We own the canal zone and will control the canal. John F. Stevens, formerly chief engineer of the canal, prophesies that when completed, which he says will probably not be until 1915, it will be a failure financially and will be of little use commercially to this country, although a benefit to Europe. He also predicts that, instead of being of use in case of war, it will be an additional expense and a distinct disadvantage.

ADELE.—We know nothing of fuller's earth as a hat cleaner, and some readers say peroxide turns straw hats yellow. Perhaps the peroxide is not used in the right way. One writer says: "When I use it I dilute it in an equal amount of water and then rub it gently over the surface of the hat with a small sponge. I do not allow the peroxide solution to soak into the straw, but wipe it off quickly with a soft cloth, after which I set it out to dry in the air, and inside of ten or fifteen minutes the hat is in good condition. The peroxide loosens the dirt, which comes off readily on the cloth when it is wiped, and also gives the straw a good white bleach."

READER.—Roaches: Try sticky fly paper and sponge woodwork with oil sassafras; or tartar emetic in saucer molasses and lard and leave over night, taking care no children reach it; or bait roach trap with beer and set in basement; or try red wafers; or scatter borax; or mix thoroughly, powdered sugar one pound, powdered borax one pound, paris green 10 cents' worth—put in all crevices with bellows or puffer; or sprinkle hellebore; or scatter cucumber peelings; or pour scalding water into all their haunts; or mix equal parts borax and starch; or put a mixture of flour and plaster of paris in places infested. The creatures will eat it greedily. The plaster of paris "sets" after they have eaten it and kills them.

MAC.—A widow's mourning is the deepest, a crepe veil being worn over the face for six months, and back from the face for 12 months or two years—longer if one wish. It is very unusual for a widow not to wear crepe, but occasionally this is done for some special reason. A middle-aged woman wears the veil on a bonnet, a very young widow may wear it on a small round hat. Have it put on severely plain and avoid all such decoration as bows or rosettes of crepe. Crepe is used for trimming for hats or gowns by a widow after she has taken off the long veil. This continues until she lightens her mourning, which may be any time after 18 months.

R. Y.—The name of the Empress of Japan is O Haru, which means spring. She smokes a silver pipe with a stem 10 inches long and is a noted economist. She is regarded as the exemplar of loveliness and womanly sweetness. She is a daughter of Prince Ichijo, a noble of the highest rank. The Empress is childless, and the Crown Prince, Yoshihito, the Emperor's eldest son, has for his mother a second wife. The Japanese law for royalty admits the choice of inferior wives, but prohibits polygamy. The Mikado has had 13 sons and daughters, but all the five boys save only the Crown Prince are dead. The latter is married and the father of an heir-presumptive to the throne. The Mikado is 18 years the senior of the Czar of Russia. He succeeded his father at the age of 15, and claims to be the one hundred and twenty-first ruler of his line in unbroken descent from Jemmu Tenno, the "Son of Heaven," who founded the dynasty in 66 B. AS IT IS IN LIFE

BY IVAN WHIN

IVAN WHIN

THERE are very good reasons back of theater conventions; but it is a big truth that the stage does not hold the mirror up to nature. You may think that the wronged heroine, the falsely accused hero, the exposed villain, the bereft father, et cetera, act in the stress of dramatic situation as men and women act when similarly confronted in real life. If you do not hold this thought it is because you have never been a figure in one of life's terrible climaxes.

Dick Conner lived through a melodrama a week long and not an incident would be approved by a dramatist.

In Act I his mother died. She had been ill half a year, fluctuated near death and back many times. The doctors were certain she could not recover, but they did all their experience suggested. The family purse was much depleted; the family were numb with action and reaction and loss of sleep. She suffered much pain in the last days, but bore it silently. Her only appeal was for rest. She fell asleep while Dick watched by the bed. He saw the change, but did not understand until the nurse whispered to him. Even then his mother did not seem to be away; only asleep.

It was well, she was at rest. That was the only thought in his mind.

He went to bed and slept 18 hours.

They made a drama of the funeral as is our custom; but not even the ceremony at the grave helped him to realize the eternity of his loss. Mother was resting. He was glad she could not suffer any more. He knew that Erma Wachter was not among the family friends at the funeral. That circumstance annoyed him. Erma was his dearest friend. She had not in words promised to marry him because he had never in word asked her to do so, but they were planning a future together when his mother's illness grew serious. Now for Act II.

He had no premonition of Erma's defection. No one told him she was married to Ed Haggerty until after the funeral, when sister Louise announced her satisfaction with the working of fate in that direction.

"There's one thing we have to be thankful for," she said, "and that is Dick won't marry that old Dutchy Erma Wachter."

"Why not?" asked Dick.

Louise told.

"Well, what do you think of that?" Dick remarked. He did not inquire further, as the details were not interesting. He felt angry as one would feel if a person should catch one in a flagrant fault—angry and ashamed.

When he saw Erma on the street he spoke to her reprovingly and she laughed as a girl will when reproved by a jealous or discarded swain.

Dick knew Ed Haggerty well and liked him. When they met Ed was very sympathetic over the death of Dick's mother and made no reference to his marriage.

But Jimmy, a younger Haggerty, was not so restrained. "Ermie shell-roaded you, old sport, didn't she?" he remarked, grinning with exasperating complacence. "All you had to do was get off the job for a day and it was all up. Ed says: 'Come on, Ermie, let's get married,' and she says: 'Only too willing.'"

Jimmy is a vulgar youth. Dick thought the rod of the Haggertys had been spoiled and refused to spare Jimmy. Dick planted his right on the side of Jimmy's jaw.

Jimmy fled the field in hot rage and got his automatic gun. It is a very dramatic piece of ordnance, unlovely in shape and color, but "sweet" to the hand of a marksman. Jimmy hid behind a pile of brick and when he sighted Dick fired nine shots at the air in Dick's vicinity.

Dick ran like a whitehead in one direction and Jimmy fled another way. That evening Ed caught Jimmy and beat him up for the honor of the family. "I'll teach you to go gunning for my friends," he admonished.

Mrs. Haggerty Sr. didn't know any of the facts save that her youngest and most worthless and best beloved was in bed with sundry cuts and contusions on his person. She told her own tale to the officer of the law, Patrolman Branniman, who arrested Dick for disturbing the peace. Act III is due along here.

Dick spent the night in the Dayton Street Station and went to Police Court the next morning. Mrs. Haggerty had got to the bottom of the facts by this time and did not appear in court. She was engaged in telling Erma the catalogue of her sins, for was not Erma the femme to cherchez for in this imbroglio?

Patrolman Branniman, being an honest man, testified that he didn't see the peace fractured and Dick was discharged with a warning against drink and bad company.

Do you see how life laughs at stage conventions? But perhaps you think I erred in casting Dick for the hero. I'll tell you about that.

Dick was 9 years old when his father died. He was 23 when his mother died. At the age when sons of the well-to-do are considering seriously the attractions of various lines of employment, Dick could count nearly 14 years of remunerative labor and was the main support of his family. Some dancing lessons, a Y. M. C. A. gymnasium ticket and a few visits to the theater was the sum of his extravagances and dissipations. He had seen to the good conduct of Robby, who was 11, and Louise, who was 13, and kept them in school. He had gone unurged to night school until he was 19, painfully gathering all that the night schools are prepared to give.

That is the structure material of a real life hero, is it not?

Begins Act IV.

There was one neighbor who was very kind to the Conners in their trouble. Mrs. Ida Bailey was a widow. She owned her home and had a small shop in which she sold ladies' hats, thread, paper pads, the Post-Dispatch and various other indispensible articles. Mrs. Conners had heartened her in the beginning of her venture; Dick had advised and aided her.

A friend told her there was much money to be made in selling lottery tickets. He got the tickets for her and she profited somewhat. Through some customer the police learned of her new line and a gambling squad man endeavored to trap her. He failed through his own stupidity. She told Dick, gleefully that she had outwitted the police. He advised the abandonment of the tickets. She agreed with him, but did not give up the sale.

Another squad man was set upon her. When Dick discovered this—Ida told him the story as a good joke—he went to the thread case, where the tickets were always kept, took the packet and burned it.

"That'll cost you five dollars," Ida said coolly.

He had a bill of just that size. It was very necessary to the upkeep of the Corners home, but he tossed it upon the counter.

"I'll get more," she said.

"You'll get a Workhouse sentence if you do."

"Pooh!" she laughed at the police. But she deferred buying the tickets and spent Dick's five adding to Louise's wardrobe.

And now for Act V.

Louise was very fond of Ida and spent afternoons in the shop learning hat trimming. She also learned to make many of her own garments and to mend her brothers'. Ida assisted in the mending and supervised the old woman who kept the Conners children's home. She mitigated many of the old woman's insufficiencies.

When the old woman's children suddenly took her away to an old folks' home Ida canvassed for a woman to replace her. She could not find the right person.

"If you and Dick marry wouldn't it be lovely?" Louise suggested.

Ida told her to hush her nonsense.

Louise remarked casually to Dick: "Wouldn't it be lovely if you and Ida would marry?"

Dick stopped reading the sporting page. "It sure would," he said. He put on his hat and went over to the shop.

A detective was behind the counter searching for lottery tickets. None were found. The detective was quite good humored. "Better quit it, my girl," he said.

"You'll never catch me." Ida laughed at him.

When he was gone Dick said, "I'll have to marry you to keep you out of trouble."

"I'd get into worse trouble then." She treated his proposal very lightly.

"What do you say?" he persisted. "Shall I see the priest?"

"Do you mean it?"

"Cross my heart."

"I don't know." She was rearranging the stock which the detective had pawed over. "Just as you say.

Then they closed up the shop and went over home to tell Louise.

There is a little section of North Jefferson avenue cut out of the earth and held up to your view. That is the way people move around in life. No incident complies with the theater conventions.

TOBACCO IN SURGICAL PRACTICE.

From the Medical Record.

L. Bolton Bangs of New York gives several interesting cases in which habitual smokers had been deprived of their tobacco in connection with a surgical operation and had developed dangerous symptoms of collapse only relieved by the use of tobacco, which at once returned them to a normal condition. The author thinks that tobacco smokers become so accustomed to the heart stimulant properties of tobacco that they at once miss it and it has become a real necessity to them. These cases also show the rapidly stimulating effect of tobacco by inhalation.

MASKED WOMAN GAINS FLESH.

BY MARGARET HUBBARD AYER.

THE WOMAN WITH THE MASK has gained one and a half pounds in weight since the beginning of the treatment. There is a slight improvement in her looks, her color is better, her digestion is improved, and she is generally more cheerful and rested.

"The day to me," said The Woman With the Mask, "is like an island completely surrounded by food. I'm eating a little something from the minute I get out of bed until the last thing at night. Everything I eat is in very small quantities, and every day the quantities are different and the proportions of things different. But until I get fat I have to spend a good deal of my time chewing my food, both liquid and solid."

The diet of the Woman With the Mask, the emaciated patient, has been carefully planned out by a food scientist. Each day her menu is varied and different combinations and proportions of proteids, carbo-hydrates and fats are especially prepared for her.

I have already said that the Woman With the Mask is a vegetarian, and that consequently she is debarred from taking any of the meat juices generally given to increase the strength. Her idea of vegetarianism, like most vegetarians', has consisted of an abhorrence of meat and a general lack of system and care in the diet, which has probably caused the extreme emaciation from which she is suffering. Vegetarianism of itself would not have resulted necessarily in leanness, but the average woman doesn't know how to feed herself anyhow. She either overeats or undereats, and when she becomes a vegetarian she almost always eats too little because she does not study the food question properly and does not combine the different kinds of foods in the right proportion for her particular case.

No diet will suit all people and every individual should have food particularly adapted to his or her special needs.

The results of feeding depend upon the way the food is selected, combined and proportioned. Whether or not a diet is made fattening depends upon whether it can be so combined and proportioned as to give the patient the appropriate amount needed by the system. For instance, if the patient's body is capable of digesting or using up say two ounces of proteids daily, and she should take four ounces, the result would be that the physical effort of the body in trying to use up or dispose of the extra two ounces counteracts or neutralizes the two ounces that were appropriated by it.

The Woman With the Mask has eaten only vegetables or natural foods since she began her treatment. She has been allowed plenty of milk, eggs, nuts and cereals. All condiments have been denied her.

She begins her day with a cup of very hot water, in which the juice of one orange is squeezed. Then come the exercises and breathing exercises with a spirometer. The spirometer measures the lung capacity.

ONE DAY'S MENU.

8 o'clock—Strained juice of one orange in cup of hot water.

Breakfast—Small dish of laxative cereal, cooked and eaten with cream. Dates.

10 o'clock—Glass of milk with white of one egg.

10:30—Glass of milk with yolk of egg.

11:00—Glass of milk with cream.

Luncheon—Corn bread, cooked vegetables, eggs, milk and nuts.

During the afternoon half a wineglassful of cream or half a glassful of milk, with white of egg, at intervals of two hours.

Dinner—Bean soup, salad of lettuce and scraped carrots, ripe olives, nuts, corn bread, buttermilk. Orange juice just before retiring.

CLARA'S AGE PRIZE

THE best correct solution of the problem, "How Old Is Clara?" came from Mrs. Paul F. Staetter of 6507 Nashville avenue. The judges found it the most simple statement of the reasoning essential to securing the correct result. It follows:

From the information given by Rose we have the following facts:

Rose equals 28.

Clara equals ½ Rose's age plus ¼ Bella's age.

Clara equals 2 years younger than Vera.

Clara equals 4 years younger than Anna.

Clara equals 10 years younger than Bella.

From the above table we find that

Clara's age equals ½ of Rose's equals 14 years plus 0 equals 14 plus ¼ of Bella's age.

Vera's age equals ½ of Rose's equals 14 years plus 2 equals 16 plus ¼ of Bella's age.

Anna's age equals ½ of Rose's equals 14 years plus 4 equals 18 plus ¼ of Bella's age.

Bella's age equals ½ of Rose's plus 14 years plus 10 equals 24 plus ¼ of Bella's age.

Rose's age equals 28.

Total years so far accounted for equals 100.

The four quarters of Bella's age are as yet unaccounted for, and are represented by the difference between the combined ages, 132 years and 100 years; i. e., 32 years.

Dividing 32 into four quarters gives us eight and adding eight years to each of the unknown ages shown in the preceeding table gives the following result:

Clara, 22.
Vera, 24.
Anna, 26.
Bella, 32.
Rose, 28.
Total, 132 years.

Submitted by

MRS. PAUL F. STAETTER,

As has been announced on this page five dollars was awarded Margie Leonard of 1537 Hogan street for the best solution of the problem which (owing to a typographical error) was erroneously stated in the first installment of "Five Girls in a Flat," published in the Post-Dispatch last Saturday.

Miss Leonard's algebraic method found that the ages of the girls in the flat were as follows:

Clara 23 1-3 years.
Bella 28 years.
Anna 27 1-3 years.
Vera 25 1-3 years.
Rose 28 years.

This is correct on the basis of the erroneous statement.

PITCHERS HOPE OF McCLOSKEY FOR A PENNANT

Not This Year but Soon, Thinks Cardinal Manager---Second Only to Cubs In National League.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY

HOUSTON, Tex., March 27.

THE pitching staff of the St. Louis Cardinals may cause a stir in the National League this season. Manager McCloskey made the rather startling statement the other day that he would not trade pitching staffs with any club in the organization unless possibly the Chicago Nationals.

Outside of the world's champions, there is not another team in the league, or possibly in the entire country, with such a line of twirlers as McCloskey has tied to the Cardinals this season. The Chicago Club has a strong staff that is more seasoned in the game than the St. Louis Club, but Manager Mac believes that by the end of this year he will outclass even Frank Chance in that department.

Prospects Chirk Up.

When it is remembered that only a couple of seasons back St. Louis could not even boast of a decent college staff, it shows that McCloskey has been wading through the game with his eyes wide open. He captured Karger from Pittsburg and Beebe from Chicago, and around these two he has assembled a half dozen more to make the best staff in the business.

Both Karger and Beebe are young in years and just beginning their careers. The stars of the Cubs are largely well along in years, and, if anything, will go back in their work from now on. The Cardinals are on the up-grade, and unless some disaster takes place, the pitchers of St. Louis will be envied by all others in the league.

Karger, Beebe, Raymond, Higginbotham, Fromme, Sallee, Lush, Murphy, Rhodes and Grandy form a grand squad from which to select about seven to carry as regulars. Out of that line there should be no trouble in picking seven who could take their regular turns in the box and be a credit to the city. Other clubs in the National League already have their eyes on McCloskey's stars and are anxious to grab one or two of the extra men.

Cub Veterans on Decline.

Of course, the Cubs have such veterans with great reputations as Mordecai Brown, Orval Overall, Jack Pfiester, Carl Lundgren, "Chic" Fraser and Ed Reulbach, but there is not one of the above mentioned who has not already reached the limit, and a few of them, it must be admitted, are ready to decline.

Pittsburg, New York and Philadelphia, the other strong clubs of the league, can boast of nothing in the pitching line to compare with the staff on the payroll of the St. Louis Cardinals. If any one of the three had the Cardinals staff, that one would have an excellent chance of beating out the Cubs for the pennant this year.

Joe Cantillon, manager of the Washington Club, has invented a new one in training a ball club. One of the daily features of the work for the Senators at Galveston is an ocean dash. It is unique, no manager ever trying it before and Joe says it is one of the best wind producers he has ever tried in getting ball players in shape for the games.

Sprint in the Brine.

Every day after the practice of the Senators at the Galveston ball park, they are trotted to the beach, which by the way is one of the grandest in the country, and there they are decked out in bathing suits. The water is warm and pleasant for the bathing and the first thing Joe does is to wade out something like 50 or 75 yards, as the water is but waist deep even at that distance, and then he orders his entire squad to line up on the water's edge and at the drop of the hand, race to the point where he stands.

It is a great sight and draws crowds down to the beach every day to see it. The breakers, sometimes more than six feet high, are coming in and against these the athletic ball players must fight and scramble to get to the finish line. Such a dashing and tumbling of men one can hardly imagine, and by the time the distance is covered the players find they have taxed every ounce of strength in their bodies and are glad to float back to the sandy shore with the waves.

PICK UP

The Regulars defeated Austin yesterday, 5 to 2, at the Texas capital in a remarkable game. Irwin Higginbotham gives promise of being a great fanning pitcher. The tall young twirler for the Cardinals distributed nine strike-outs to the Austin batters in five innings that he opposed them yesterday.

A couple of bush pitchers on the Austin team, however, had the St. Louis youths badly fussed about their batting. The Cardinals cuffed but two safe hits in the whole game, and the score of 5 to 2 was a gift because of mistakes by the little leaguers.

While the Cardinal Regulars were defeating Austin the stay-at-home Cardinal youngsters were upholding the record of St. Louis against Houston. In fact, the youngsters handled the Texas Leaguers with as much ease as the regulars have been doing, by a score of 6 to 3.

RUN DOWN—TIRED

St. Louis People Who Are in This Condition Are Asked to Read This Article.

There are many people in this vicinity at this season of the year who are all run down, no strength—hardly able to drag about. Don't know what ails them.

We want to say to every such person that our cod liver preparation, Vinol, is the tonic reconstructor which they need. Vinol tones up the digestive organs, creates a healthy appetite, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body to do its work. In this natural manner strength and vitality quickly replace weakness and lassitude.

Miss Rose Blair, president Sophomore Club, Kansas City, writes: "Last spring I was all run down, nervous, irritable and could not sleep. I tried many medicines without benefit. Vinol was recommended. It was delicious and not at all like the greasy cod liver oil and emulsions I was used to. Vinol gave me a hearty appetite and restored me to perfect health and strength."

Vinol is recognized throughout the world as an unexcelled strength creator for old people, weak, sickly women, delicate children and the convalescent.

Try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails to give satisfaction. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo.

BROWN COLTS AGAIN WIN

Hit Criss' Shoot With Vigor—Score Is 12-2.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 27.—Anybody who thought the Browns were not handy with the bat this season would have changed their opinion after watching the game between the Vets and Colts yesterday, during which both "Dode" Criss and Harry Howell found that their best puzzling shoots, twists, curves and drops failed to puzzle McAleer's charges in the least.

The Colts won the game, 12 to 2. Criss was on the mound for the Vets. Eighteen hits were the Colts' harvest off the big Texan's speedy delivery. Harry Howell was taken over the jumps also by the Vets. Ten hits, including a double, caused "Happy Harry" to lose his smile at times and wish the game was over. At that the game lasted but seven innings.

"Hack" Spencer was the king pin with the willow. Four hits out of as many trips to the plate is a nice afternoon's record. Spencer's hits were clean raps through the infield, too, and if he was a bit faster at least one might have been stretched into a double.

The Browns Colts have issued a challenge to the Cardinal Colts for a spring series. However, this is up to Presidents Hedges and Robison.

LEWIS SCORES OVER OLD RIVAL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BALTIMORE, March 27.—Harry Lewis last night got the decision over his old rival, Terry Martin, after 15 rounds of fast fighting before the Eureka Athletic Club. Lewis proved himself Martin's master, both at boxing and ring generalship. Lewis was the aggressor from the start to finish.

Martin showed his best in the mix-ups, but he outfought himself in the first six rounds and after this, although he landed on Lewis' face and body, his blows lacked steam.

Lewis scored two knockdowns. A right to the jaw sent Terry to the canvas for the count of eight in the first round, and in the eighth another right on the face send Martin down again.

Both men were fighting hard at the finish, but Lewis had the advantage.

A departure will be the playing of three interstate matches, two with the New Jersey State League, on July 11 and Sept. 7, while the Connecticut Cricket Association will play the pick of the New York players at Bridgeport on July 25.

Negro Fighter Outclasses Easterner.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISC, March 27.—At Vallejo last night Kyle Whitney, the negro welterweight, knocked out Billy Burk of Philadelphia in the second round of a scheduled 20-round fight. Burk was outclassed. In the second round Whitney, who was in great form, floored his man, with a right-hand swing. He arose, but was again met with another right swing that settled his chances. Billy Roche officiated as referee.

Old Swimming Rivals Who Meet Again This Evening

GAMES TONIGHT DECIDE TWO BILLIARD TITLES

Demarest and Wright Play Final Match in Chicago Tournament.

CHICAGO, March 27.—If Calvin Demarest defeats H. A. Wright of San Francisco tonight in the third and final game of the play-off of the three-cornered tie for the national amateur billiard championship at 18.2 balk-line, the young Chicagoan will, for the third consecutive year, carry off the trophy.

Wright went down to defeat before Charles Conklin last night, 400 to 313. Demarest defeated Conklin last Monday night. A victory for Demarest will, therefore, give him the title.

If Wright defeats Demarest the three men will have to play another round to decide the championship, as each man will have won one game and lost one in the play-off.

Wright has been ill for several days. He played good billiards against Conklin, but was unsteady, missing a number of shots by narrow margins. Conklin averaged 16 and Wright 12 13-25.

Conklin got off in the lead with 17 points in the first inning and was never headed. Conklin's safety play worried Wright greatly. Conklin's high run was 71 in the tenth inning. Wright's best run was 52.

Hoppe and Sutton Meet in New York for World's Championship.

NEW YORK, March 27.—In the Madison Square Garden concert hall tonight George Sutton and Willie Hoppe will meet for the world's championship at 18.2 balk-line billiards.

The title and emblem are at present held by Sutton, while Hoppe, whose skill brought the 18.1 title back to this country about two years ago, through his defeat of Vignaux, is the challenger. Both men have been practicing diligently in this city for the past 10 days and both have displayed excellent form.

Hoppe's opponent has been Schaefer, while Sutton has been working against Slosson and the French expert, Cassignol.

Schaefer beat Heppe for the 18.1 title in Chicago recently, but the younger player has been doing so well at the 18.2 style in practice that there is general expectation of a match of more than ordinary interest when he meets Sutton tonight.

RUBIO TAKES STEEPLECHASE

Major Douglas-Pennant's Horse Easy Winner at Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, March 27.—The Grand National Steeplechase, of 3000 sovereigns, including a trophy valued at 125 sovereigns, on the Grand National course, distance about four miles, 856 yards, was won today by Maj. A. Douglas-Pennant's Rubio, by 10 lengths. William Coppers' Mattie McGregor was second and P. Whitakers' The Lawyer III finished third. Twenty-four horses ran.

STANFORD DISBANDS TEAMS WHEN CAPTAIN IS DISMISSED

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., March 27.—The University boat squad—both varsity and freshmen cerws—has disbanded, owing to Capt. Gay being among the students dismissed for insubordination.

Capt. Fenton has discharged the baseball team, owing to the action of the committee, though the organization may finish the season under another name.

Tennis practice has been suspended and, although Trainer Moulton has requested all track men to continue training, several of the best athletes have signified their intention of taking a leave of absence.

DANIELS AND SCHWARZ TO MEET AGAIN

Swimming Champion to Contest With Missouri's Fastest at New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March 27.—C. M. Daniels, champion short-distance speed swimmer of the world, will be called upon to defend his title against a formidable rival in the 100-yard National A. A. U. indoor swimming championship race at the New York A. C. this evening, when he meets Marquard Schwarz of the Missouri A. C. of St. Louis.

Daniels has defeated Schwarz no less than ten times in 100-yard races, but he figures Schwarz will give him the race of his life this evening. Schwarz recently won the 50-yard National A. A. U. swimming championship in Chicago and showed great speed.

Schwarz has been training for over a week at the Chicago under the direction of Alex Meffert, swimming director of the Chicago A. A., who while at the Missouri A. C. brought Schwarz to the front as a speed swimmer. In fact, it was Meffert at the old Knickerbocker A. C. of New York City, who brought Daniels out. Daniels fears Schwarz may have learned a few things from Meffert while in Chicago that will make it possible for him to finish in front in tonight's race. A number of other fast men are entered, but the championship is conceded to be between Schwarz and Daniels.

Schwarz has been swimming the 100 yards under 1 minute. In one trial he was timed in 58s. Daniels holds the world's record for the distance in 58s. On form Daniels should win, but the contest will be a pretty one, as both men are wonderful paddlers.

Hoppe Defeats McLaughlin.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Willie Hoppe last night defeated McLaughlin of Philadelphia at 18.2 balk-line billiards by a score of 400 to 192. The game lasted only eight innings. Hoppe's high runs were 156, 59 and 56 and his average was 50. McLaughlin's best runs were 60, 55 and 49. His average was 27 3-7. McLaughlin played in the place of Schaefer, who is ill. The games between Slosson, Cassignol and Sutton were postponed.

CLICK OF THE IVORIES

F. C. Dupree, a former Chicagoan, and Frank Benson will meet in a 50-point three-cushion billiard match at the Pine billiard academy at 10 o'clock tonight for a wager of $50 a side. Benson defeated Martin Maley in a 50-point match for a side wager and then Dr. Campbell. Maley wants a return match and will be accommodated as soon as Benson finishes with Dupree.

Al Taylor is leading Francois Maggioli by over 600 points in their 2000-point 18.2 balk-line match, which will be finished at the Rex academy Saturday night. Taylor has scored 1600 points to Maggioli's 952. Taylor averaged 20 and made a high run of 82 in the block of 200 points played last night, Taylor scoring 200 points while Maggioli was collecting 111. The ninth block of points will be played at 1 o'clock today and the tenth at 8 o'clock this evening.

Harry Decker wil lmeet A. Dolph in the Class A three-cushion billiard tournament match at the Grand this evening. Last night Dr. Thomas defeated Gundaker, 50 to 29. Dr. Thomas made a run of seven and averaged .83.

BOSTON MARATHON OLYMPIC TRIAL

London Runners Will Be Selected From Those in Eastern Race.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The Executive Committee of the Olympic games has decided that the Boston Athletic Association Marathon race, which is to be held in Boston on April 20, will be the try-out for the Olympic Marathon to be held in London this summer. The committee will select its entries from those who start in the Boston race.

The Executive Committee has also decided that in all three try-outs—Philadelphia, Chicago and the Pacific Coast—the size of the circle for throwing the discus shall be the same as the one that will be used in London—2.50 meters.

Jumper Suspended on Own Say.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The National Registration Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union announced last night that Ray C. Ewry, the jumper, is under suspension for having given an exhibition at an unsanctioned meet on May 2, 1907. Ewry's own statement was the only evidence considered.

"BEAT ABE FIRST," NELSON IS TOLD

Battling May Be Matched With McFarland if He Wins Attell Bout.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—Battling Nelson will have to beat Abe Attell in their 15-round contest next Tuesday night if he hopes to land a match with Packey McFarland during the sojourn of the Chicago lightweight in these parts.

This intelligence was given the Dane today when he approached Harry Gilmore, who is handling McFarland. Bat is confident of his ability to trim the featherweight champion, and in a conversation with Gilmore asked for a match with Packey after the latter has finished his engagement with Jimmy Britt April 11.

"Beat Attell and we will talk business with you," was the only encouragement given Nelson by Gilmore.

The Dane pondered a moment and then muttered:

"That's right. If I can't beat Attell it's most certain I can't win from McFarland."

FATHERS INSIST ON FIRE ESCAPES FOR ONE SCHOOL

Club Passes Resolution Asking Board to Heed Inspector Sikes' Warning.

COLUMBIA IS ATTACKED

Official Firm in Intention to Seek Indictments of Commissioners.

The Fathers' Club of the Columbia School, one of those condemned as unsafe by State Factory Inspector Sikes, at a meeting Thursday night at the home of Walter A. Ehrler, 3207 Sullivan avenue, passed resolutions calling upon the Board of Education to remodel the building according to the recommendations of Inspector Sikes.

Ask Fire Escapes and Doors.

The resolutions ask that fireproof stairways and fireproof doors be installed, and that an addition be built to the present building. The recommendations of Inspector Sikes call for the erection of fire escapes on the building.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Falkenhainer Thursday afternoon refused to issue warrants asked by Inspector Sikes against members of the Building Committee of the Board of Education, saying he did not believe the State Factory Inspection Department had jurisdiction over the Board of Education.

Inspector Sikes says he will take the matter before the grand jury and endeavor to get indictments against the members of the Committee on the charge of permitting school buildings to remain in an unsafe condition.

May Apply Restaurant Rule.

One of Inspector Sikes' assistants purchased a sandwich in the third floor of the Sumner High School, and it is possible an effort may be made to enforce the fire escape law as it applies to restaurants.

POLLARD FINES MAN $500 AND CALLS HIM "HOUND"

Divorced Wife in Court Displays Bruises She Says Former Husband Made.

Judge Pollard of the Dayton Street Police Court lectured James Green Friday, then fined him $500 for annoying Mrs. Stella Green, his divorced wife, and trying to take her child away from her.

"You don't deserve to be called a man, you hound," Judge Pollard shouted in tones that carried his voice to the street below.

The child is Wildred, 6 years old, whom Mrs. Green adopted.

Judge Pollard's outburst occurred after Mrs. Green had stripped off her jacket and rolled her right sleeve to the shoulder to exhibit bruises she said Green caused.

Mrs. Green said she and Green were divorced 18 months ago, and he remarried at his home, 812 St. Clair avenue, in East St. Louis, while she came to St. Louis. She lives at 3009A Kosuth avenue.

Green was alleged to have dragged his wife to the Carr Street Station because she would not give up their child. He appealed from Pollard's decision.

They were refused licenses Friday in St. Louis and in Clayton. They left Clayton shortly before noon, saying they were going to persevere until they got a license.

Turnbow is not of age, though he insisted he was more than 21 until Clerk Redmond at Clayton asked him if he had not been refused a license in St. Louis. The youth admitted the fact, and then said they were eloping from Taylorville because the young woman's father objected to their marriage.

KANSAS RAINS DEPRESS WHEAT

Market Essentially a Weather One, Prices Ruling Weak but Nervous.

REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING

Corn Dull and Easier—Cash Markets Rule Weak and Lower.

A dull, heavy tone pervaded the local wheat market Friday, fluctuations following a sharply lower opening being narrow, and the close weak at declines of ¾@1c for the day.

Argentine shipments of wheat were 6,248,000 bu, against 6,252,000 bu last week and 3,504,000 bu a year ago. The visible supply of wheat in Argentine is 6176000 bu against 6,624,000 bu last week and 3,352,000 bu a year ago. The Argentine wheat market is firm with a good demand. Arrivals from the interior are slightly smaller with the quality still satisfactory. Heavy rains in Argentine have helped preparations for the new crop there.

The weather was again the dominant factor in the market and a very weak opening at this point was caused by reports of scattered moisture in Kansas and the Southwest and indications of more. Liverpool cables were unresponsive, closing unchanged to ½d lower and the large exports from Argentine also encouraged the weakness. Opening prices were about ⅝c lower, but the market early in the day acted very stubborn at the break, and prices got but a very little distance from the initial levels. Receipts in the Northwest were again very light, and several blizzards were reported in parts of the Dakotas. It was essentially a weather market, however, and considerable hesitation among the operators was caused by the uncertain conditions. Several reports had it that the rains that fell were insufficient, but the situation was generally sized up as favorable for the crop in this market and traders here were backed up in that opinion by the Modern Miller crop outlook. The trading in the pit was very light during the forenoon and prices showed a rather steady undertone at the lower levels.

May wheat opened ⅞@⅝c lower at 96c to 96¼c, fluctuated between 96¼c and 96¼c, and declined to 96c. July wheat opened ½c to ¾c lower at 86¼c to 86c, advanced to 86⅞@86¼c, and declined to 86¼c.

Broomhall estimates world's shipments wheat Monday, exclusive of North America, will be about 7,200,000 bu, of which Europe will take about 6,400,000 bu. Last week 10,528,000; last year, 9,456,000.

Arrivals of breadstuffs into the United Kingdom will be about 5,600,000 bu. Predicts good decrease on passage.

Wheat from private elevators in Chicago, 55 cars contract and 10 of lower grades. From public, 42,437 bu contract and 5492 lower. Corn from private elevators, 23 cars contract and 110 of lower grades. From public, none. Oats from private elevators, 57 cars and 30,250 bu contract and 27 cars lower grade.

Cash sales at Chicago Thursday were 15,000 bu wheat, 60,000 bu corn and 150,000 bu oats. No export sales reported.

There was a fair cash demand at Minneapolis, with No. 1 Northern 2c over May and No. 2 at May price. Minneapolis stocks increased 175,000 bu for the week and Duluth increased 265,000 bu for the week. Receipts at Minneapolis were 144 cars, against a holiday last year, and Duluth 31 cars.

The late trading was active and the tone nervous. Cash houses were unanimous in their reports of a very small trade in cash wheat, and Chicago reported no demand from the millers. A quite good export demand was noted late, however, New York reporting good sales of red wheat, with United Kingdom buying some Duluth Northern, and Kansas City also reported some good sales. Prices sold down an additional fractional cent and again sagged slightly, closing in a rather weak position.

May wheat declined to 95¾c, rallied to 96c, fluctuated between 95⅞c and 96c, and closed at 95⅞c sellers. July wheat advanced to 86¼c, declined to 85⅞c, was bid up to 86⅜@86¼c, and again sagged, closing at 86c bid.

Cash wheat prices ruled weak and lower, under a very poor demand, and in a slow market.

Primary receipts of wheat were 362,231 bu, with shipments of 252,655 bu, and local receipts were 35,270 bu, with shipments of 38,830 bu.

Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour for the day were 261,000 bu and the week's exports are reported by Bradstreet at 2,283,000 bu.

Corn was a very tame and colorless affair, prices losing off in sympathy with wheat, and closing ½@⅝c lower. Cash corn also ruled easy. Corn clearances were 312,000 bu for the day and 845,000 bu for the week. Argentine shipments of corn were 24,000 bu.

Primary receipts of corn were 534,550 bu, with shipments of 444,554 bu, and local receipts were 165,410 bu, with shipments of 100,830 bu.

There were no sales of oats futures and the cash article ranged lower. Oats clearances were 50 bu.

Primary receipts of oats were 609,744 bu, with shipments of 593,311 bu, and local receipts were 142,400 bu, with shipments of 49,160 bu.

FLOUR—Receipts were 8400 bbls; shipments, 7000 bbls. Quote soft winter flour, patents, $4.60@4.80; straights, $4.40@4.50 extra fancy, $4.20@4.30; in wood; hard, jute sacks, patent, $4.40@4.65; straight, $4.15@4.30; clears, $3.65@3.85; low grade, $3@3.25; spring patents, $3.10@3.25; in jute.

Cattle	1,500	900	900
Hogs	4,000	7,500	3,300
Sheep	200	...	1,000

NATIVE CATTLE—Receipts were light today and all but 100 head in the native division. There was a fair proportion of beef steers and the best topped at $6.90, with all full load lots selling at $6.40 or better.

There was a good demand for butcher cattle, and little butcher steers and heifers sold up to $6.50, cows at $5.85, bulls at $5.25 and calves at $6.50.

Trading was active, but prices averaged about a dime lower for steers and the common and medium cows and heifers, compared with yesterday morning's trade, but desirable cows and heifers, bulls and calves sold at a steady range of prices.

But few stockers and feeders were available and desirable kinds sold readily, but the common grades and stale holdings were rather slow sale at weak prices.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—Four loads were reported for this division, but they were not expected to arrive until late in the afternoon. The market has ruled on a strong basis all week, and all kinds have found ready sale.

HOGS—A small supply of hogs arrived and buyers were wild to get them and as a consequence the market opened 15c higher, kept improving, and was soon 20c higher, and closed 30@35c higher, the best time yesterday, making the market now 70c higher than a week ago. The top early was $5.70, but before the day was over the top was up to $5.85.

Shippers were the ones that wanted the hogs and forced the advance, and towards the close of the market they were still looking for hogs, as they had a lot of orders they were unable to fill. The packers and butchers were not able to get many hogs, as they were unable to keep pace with the shippers. Pigs and lights, if good, shared in the advance, some lights weighing less than 155 lbs. selling up to $5.72½.

OPENING SALES ARE MARKED BY IRREGULARITY

Variations Between Closing and Opening Confined to Small Fraction. .

NEW YORK, March 27, 10 a. m.—Decided irregularity marked the initial sales at the opening of the market this morning. It was about an even break between gains and losses. With only one or two exceptions the variations from the closing were restricted to a small fraction.

These exceptions were Canadian Pacific and B. & O., two stocks which are not considered as among the active ones.

Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific were about the heaviest losers at the opening, the former receding ⅝ and the latter ½ point.

Union Pacific was at parity. Other rail were up and down from ⅛ to ¼ point.

Initial trading in the industrials was the same as in the rails, although there was probably more weakness than strength.

Smelter sold ex-dividend, and fluctuated considerably in the first half hour. Amalgamater Copper and Anaconda were both firm and strong, both issues showing early gains. In the first 15 minutes of trading Union Pacific went to 127, and almost immediately after receded to its opening. Reading was advanced to 107 and this stock also met with a rebuff at this point. St. Paul and Northern Pacific were also weak at the end of the first hour. Smelters declined ½.

American stocks in London were firm and from ⅛@⅜ higher.

NEW YORK, March 27, 12:30 p. m.—During the forenoon hours a strong bull movement was started along the entire list, with the result that substantial advances were recorded. Canadian Pacific was uncommonly active and strong, going 4 points above its opening figure. Transactions in this stock were large. Union Pacific was also active and gained 1½ points. Several issues registered advances of 1 point each, among them being Atchison, Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, Reading and Southern Pacific. The Hill stocks were ¾ higher at noon.

The industrials were also higher. Consolidated Gas was the leader in this division, with a gain of 3 points. Copper stocks advanced almost a point each, while American Sugar was at parity and dull.

In the early forenoon Westinghouse had a serious decline of 4½ points, but by noon had recovered about half of this loss.

The Steels and Lead were slightly higher and less active than usual.

MODERATE SALES AT 1ST SESSION OF EXCHANGE

Prices Generally Unchanged, but Tone of Market Is Firm.

Although there was a moderate volume of trading at the first session of the St. Louis Stock Exchange Friday, there was practically no change in the quotations which have prevailed during the week. Railways preferred sold ex-dividend. By adding the 1¼ dividend to 65½, the price at which it sold, an advance of ¼ is obtained over Thursday's figures.

National Candy and Railways common were unchanged.

American Credit Indemnity woke up from a very long sleep and sold at 145.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Failure of the Erie Railroad Co.'s directors and executive committee to take any action in regard to the extension of its $5,500,000 of one-year notes, which mature on April 8, was considered an unfavorable indication of the financial standing of that road. As the fact that the company had ignored the necessity for taking some action on this note issue was not made known until after the close of trading the Erie stocks were not affected to any noticeable extent.

Advertising by Telegraph.

An evidence of the progressive up-to-date methods of the present time is well illustrated in the large advertisement headed "Fair Finance," signed by Thomas W. Lawson, Boston, Mass., which was sent to the Post-Dispatch by wire from the H. B. Humphrey & Co. Agency, consuming 4623 words. It is the largest advertisement, every word of which was received by wire, ever printed in a St. Louis newspaper.

The mails are evidently getting too slow for these active, strenuous days.

EXPERTS' REPORTS

"A."

NEW YORK, March 13, 1908.

Daniel Guggenheim, Esq., President Guggenheim Exploration Company, 71 Broadway, New York City.

My Dear Sir—I beg to hend you herewith report by Mr. Oscar B. Perry on the properties of the Yukon Gold Company. Mr. Perry's report is based on the results of his examination work, aided by a corps of assistants in the Klondike district during the past three years. I have studied Mr. Perry's figures with care, and have gone over the report submitted by Mr. A. N. C. Treadgold, who has been in the Klondike district during the last ten seasons, and is very familiar with the district. In view of the foregoing estimates by Mr. Perry and Mr. Treadgold, I believe that the gravels owned and controlled by the Yukon Gold Company in Yukon territory should yield upwards of $50,000,000 gross value, and when the properties are thoroughly equipped I believe that Mr. Perry's estimate of $36,000,000 net profit, with possibilities beyond this, will be realized. I am, very truly yours,

A. CHESTER BEATTY.

"B."

PROPERTIES AND EQUIPMENT.

The company's holdings in the Klondike district are located on Bonanza, Eldorado, Bear and Hunker creeks, which have a production record of approximately $100,000,000. The scheme involves absolute control of the above named creeks, the holdings so distributed that no other large scale operation is possible. To secure this position, the company has purchased sufficient creek claims and upper level or bench deposits to control the mining situation, and is now introducing a water system and electric power plant, with suitable equipment, to work its holdings upon a large scale and with the greatest possible economy. The previous operations in this district have been conducted almost entirely by hand methods and upon a small scale. Hence, the ratio of cost to gross extraction has been exceedingly high. Former operations have been continually hampered and the cost materially increased by the extreme scarcity of water. The equipment has been designed with two objects in view: First, by the introduction of water and power to reduce the ratio of cost to gross extraction on the claims now owned or to be acquired by the company, many of which have been partly worked, and could be still worked profitably even by the old and expensive methods. The savings in operating costs will greatly increase the net profits to be derived from these claims. Second, by the use of a continuous water supply the best possible equipment, to make available large areas of grave which cannot be profitably exploited by the old methods. In view of the enormous volume of gravel available, the possibilities of this phase of the scheme are very large. The engineers' estimate of the gold contents of the Yukon gravels, based on three seasons' work, shows a gross of over $50,000,000 in the ground examined. In the properties either owned outright or controlled, the profit is estimated at $82,000,000, with a further profit, due to probabilities (reduction in cost, extension of workings, etc.) estimated at $4,000,000, making a total net profit of $86,000,000. The presence of rich gravel areas on other developed creeks in Yukon district within the present field of operations, together with the expected increase in quantity of gravel workable as methods improve, make the possibilities of the business very large. To summarise: The Yukon properties now being developed are estimated to contain $36,000,000 net profit. The California and British Columbia properties add $2,000,000 net to this, making a total of $38,000,000, which our engineers consider safely assured. The possibilities of further development and extension make it safe to assume that the ultimate return will greatly exceed this figure. (Signed):

O. B. PERRY.

NEW YORK, MARCH 6, 1908.

NEW YORK, March 5, 1908.

To the Directors:

I promised last summer to make you an estimate of the Klondike gravels to be worked by the equipment which you have been installing for now nearly two years, and which will be completed during the summer season of this year. I shall confine myself to the main pay channel of Hunker Creek, of Bear Creek, of Bonanza Creek, with important tributary, Eldorado Creek, and of the Klondike Valley between Hunker Creek on the east and the mouth of the Klondike River. This main pay channel is continuous in the valley just mentioned, and the equipment which you have now nearly completed will work the whole deposit as one mine by the hydraulic method where that method is easy and suitable, and by dredging where dredging is more suitable. I have been in constant contact with the four valleys above mentioned during the summer season of each year from 1898 until now, and I have during the last three seasons had the benefit of the results of the continuous examination work of your own engineers added to by my own independent observation. In my estimate of net yield I have selected from the areas served by our equipment only the higher grade deposits; these we shall treat for obvious reasons before the still large volume of low-grade gravels. The lower grade gravels, however, will form a definite and very large increment accruing naturally to our operations after we have worked out the higher grade ground in the first twelve or fifteen years of our operations. I am of the opinion that we shall find the selected areas of high-grade gravel as follows:

	Cubic Yds.
Bonanza Hills (upper)	20,000,000
Bonanza Hills (lower)	45,000,000
Bonanza Creek Bottom (lower)	25,000,000
Upper Bonanza with Eldorado Creek	10,000,000
Bear Creek Bottom	3,000,000
Hunker Creek Bottom	14,000,000
Hunker Hills	20,000,000
Total yards	187,000,000
Gross	$58,540,000
Net	$43,950,000
Oroville and Atlin gravels	2,500,000
Total	46,450,000

The above list of selected areas leaves out of account the following very large low-grade areas which will unquestionably be profitably treated by our equipment at a later stage in our Klondike operations.

	Cubic Yds.
Hunker Creek Bottom, with its tributaries, Last Chance Creek and Gold Bottom Creek	40,000,000
Hunker Hills and Last Chance Hills	80,000,000
Lower Bonanza Hills	60,000,000
Klondike Valley below Bear Creek	30,000,000

The low grade areas listed above are entirely covered by the equipment now nearly completed, with the completion of our main ditch during this year, in addition to our dredges, elevators, power plant, transmission lines and storage dam. (All of which last five aids to systematic working are now ready for use.) We shall be in position to treat the Klondike gravels in due course at a cost not far in excess of that experience in other known alluvial fields.

A. N. C. TREADGOLD.

Tomorrow, Saturday, in the stock market of New York, there will be offered for sale through representative Boston, New York and Philadelphia stock exchange houses, 700,000 shares of the

at not less than $5 or more than $7.50 per share. The entire 700,000 is treasury stock of the

YUKON GOLD COMPANY

Capital $3,500,000, share par $5 each, and is sold for the benefit of the company.

YUKON GOLD COMPANY

is owned by the Guggenheim Exploration Company. The Exploration company is one of the group of corporations known throughout the world as the "Guggenheim Metal, Smelting and Mining Group." Among the groups are the following companies: Yukon Gold Company, Guggenheim Exploration Company, American Smelting and Refining Co., American Smelters Securities Co., Federal Mining and Smelting Co., United Zinc Co., National Lead Co.

Owing to the huge capital of these combined companies (hundreds of millions of dollars) their enormous assets and great gross and net earnings, and the business and mining ability combined in the administration and operation of the allied corporations, this group is recognized throughout the world as the head of the mining industry. Owing to the extraordinary success of all companies which have ever become a part of this group, the enormous aggregate of annual dividends, and the fact that the stocks of the different companies have sold at tremendous premiums over their flotation price (American Smelters, capital $100,000,000, par $100, sold in 1907 at $174 per share; Guggenheim Exploration, capital $20,000,000, par $100, at $326 per share), the public have always eagerly sought ownership in any stock bearing the label of this successful and powerful group. The surest and choicest investments of the entire group has been considered to be their "Yukon Gold," because, first, the product of gold-mining is always worth at least 100 cents on the dollar in the money of any nation, with the market always unlimited; second, because "Yukon Gold" is a "dredging" and hydraulic, instead of a "deep mining," proposition, which means that it cannot be affected unfavorably by flood, famine, earthquakes or "bad times;" third, because the quantities of gold contained in "Yukon" property are definitely known; fourth, because the cost of mining on this property could always be accurately estimated; fifth, because this group has been liberal and far-sighted in their expenditures for "the plant" to an extent heretofore unequaled in any gold-mining proposition in the world—that is, this group will have invested, when their present plans have been completed (they are nearly completed now) $12,000,000, three years of labor, not only fearlessly invested, but wisely, that if "the Guggenheims" had accomplished nothing else in "business," this one effort would have marked them as great public benefactors; sixth, because it was positively known that the enterprise was an immensely profitable investment. For the above reasons leading bankers have eagerly sought to secure the whole or a large portion of the Yukon stock to offer to the public; for the same reasons the group have always refused to part with any of it. The only reason that makes it possible to secure any of this stock now is, first, because it is now a completed success, and, second, because the group have been convinced that just at this time, when the people are filled with distrust of all thing corporationwise, it will be of inestimable value to the whole investment and corporation structure to spread through the land into the hands of thousands of small and large investors a fraction of the stock of their enterprise at less than one-half of its actual worth. Two brief illustrations will show to all the horse-senseness of this move. The amount of money lost to the group by selling to the public 700,000 of the 3,500,000 shares owned by the Exploration company will be many times more than made up by the increase in the value of the stocks of their corporations in the group. The story of the Yukons property and stock is told better and more fully than I can tell in the reports and schedules which are presented herewith:

"A" is the sayso of one of the high-known and most reliable and responsible-minded and business experts in the world, A. Chester Beatty. Mr. Beatty plainly and concisely tells of the property and the two men who know most about it, and they, in equally plain and brief language, have told what they know.

"B" is the report of one of the best experts on this form of property anywhere, O. B. Perry.

"C" is the report of the man who has lived continuously with the property since its discovery, S. A. N. C. Treadgold. Mr. Treadgold is an Englishman of responsibility, learning, mining knowledge and high standing. In Great Britain, America, Canada and Alaska he ranks second to no man on the subject of which he treats.

As "A," "B" and "C" duplicates themselves in places, and as every word in my extensive advertising costs heavily, I have cut out the duplicate parts. The unabridged reports will be sent to anyone who desires to have them.

"D" is an outline of "the group" enterprises and men, and is printed for the purpose of allowing all to judge if such an aggregation of business men and corporations would allow exaggerated or unreliable statements to go forth about property and stock which they, and they alone, own and control.

Before leaving Fair Finance, the first section of my work of publicity, in the interest of the people and of capital, I would say the methods of offering this stock to the public are new. Not a share of Yukon stock will be sold to anyone until the public throughout the United States, Canada, England, Germany and France have had twenty-four hours to read, digest and investigate the facts and figures herewith presented. Then, at the opening of the New York Stock Market—that is, twenty-four hours after all have read this statement—the entire 700,000 shares will be placed in the hands of representative stock exchange houses, with orders to sell any and all buyers who bid through recognized stock exchange or curb brokers at not less than $5 nor more than $7.50 per share, and to continue to sell until the entire 700,000 shares have been disposed of, after which time the price will be the one made by the late-comers and those who have bought and who are satisfied to take their profits.

In presenting this absolutely safe and profitable investment to the public everywhere, and particularly to the 425,000 investors and speculators with whom for so many years I have done more or less business, I have this earnest sayso to present: I have personally and thoroughly tested the worth of this property, and in my opinion it is the best investment I have ever known. I have, to the best of my ability, looked over and into the "Guggenheim group" of enterprises, and the men upon whose ability, honesty and work they must depend for success, and I am convinced they are destined to be winners—square-deal winners—and destined to become great favorites with the people, as from time to time the people mingle their savings with the securities based upon the enterprises of this group.

While I do not yet own a share of Yukon stock, I have, nevertheless, a tremendous interest in the success of this project of disposing of this stock. If it is the success it should be I increase my power to procure bargains from the great captains of finance for the people, and when the 700,000 shares I have been instrumental in securing for the people at one-half or one-third their worth are in great public demand at two to four times what the people have paid for them, I will have added largely to my public following.

A parting word to small investors: If, after you have secured some Yukon stock at from $5 to $7.50 per share, you are tempted to sell at later prices at $10 to $15, you should weigh carefully before doing so the possibilities of reinvesting your original savings, and what they have garnered for you, to as good advantage as in Yukon even at $10 to $15 per share, bearing in mind in all your calculations that this investment is so sure, that the men of all men in the world who know most about such investments, and particularly this investment, have selected Yukon gold for their choicest permanent investment, and they retain four-fifths of it, which they will not sell, even at a large advance over what the public on Saturday can buy it.

A word to Wall Street speculators: In determining how big a block of "Yukon" you should take, consider what will happen to "Yukon" with only 700,000 $5 shares outstanding for trading purposes, "equal to but 35,000 shares of Union Pacific," when my friends, the public, take it all and insist upon securing more. You and I will agree the entire lot will hardly supply the demand of any one of a number of us who, in the past, have never seriously balked at taking on 30,000 to 60,000 shares of any $100 stock which looked half as good as investigation will absolutely prove Yukon is.

Mistaken for Probable Wife Slayer She Is Chased Till She Falls Exhausted.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 27.—Catherine Rooks, 23 years old, was today returned to her parents' home, by the authorities of Lawrence County after an exciting experience. Miss Rooks while in man's attire, was chased by a posse in search of a negro who had fatally stabbed his wife. In the darkness the girl was mistaken for the negro and narrowly escaped lynching. Her voice saved her as she was about to be hanged by the mob.

The girl has a brother sick in Chicago, and a few days ago she got the idea that she might beat her way on freight trains to Chicago to help him had she but boy's attire. She tried on the clothes of her uncle, and finding they fit she left a note and started for Chicago. She had reached Newcastle. In the dusk around the railway station she was noticed by a man who had been out with the Sheriff looking for Robert Washington, whose wife is dying from knife wounds inflicted by him.

The word was passed that there was a "strange nigger man" about, and the posse was soon in full cry after Catherine, who, unhampered by skirts, fled like the wind.

At the end of a mile she fell exhausted and frightened almost to death, but she managed to scream a few times and the posse found it had no man to deal with.

Excessive Drinking

Excessive or continued use of alcoholic beverages always results in a diseased condition of the nervous system.

The drinking man is often heard to say, "I can stop of my own free will and when I wish," but the poor fellow is now devoid of the power to act at the proper time and in the right way. It's too late—the craving has secured a firm hold—and because of the diseased nervous system he has not the ability for sustained effect. The result we all know.

Drunkenness is no longer considered a crime; eminent scientists and physicians have agreed that it is a disease and must be treated as such.

The home treatment that has been used for a number of years, and is highly successful, is Orrine. It is sold under a positive guarantee that if it does not effect a cure your money will be refunded.

Orrine is in two forms. When desiring to give secretly, purchase Orrine No. 1, and if the patient will volunterily take the treatment, Orrine No. 2 should be given. The guarantee is the same in either case. Orrine costs but $1.00 per box. Mailed in plain sealed wrapper on receipt of price. MADAME YALE'S BEAUTY CULTURE LECTURE

A Matinee for Women and Girls

Century Theater

Next Monday Afternoon, March 30th,

AT 2:30

As an authority on Woman's Beauty and Physical Culture Mme. Yale stands alone in her greatness. Her own physical perfections portray in tones more convincing than words the quality of her remedies and methods—perfect in face, figure and general manner—so, she is an inspiring picture for women to imitate and profit by her example and teachings.

The Yale System

provides for the removal of all blemishes and defects to face or figure that mar beauty. If a woman is too stout or too thin Mme. Yale has exercises and methods for bringing about the desired change. She will tell in her lecture how women and girls may increase in beauty and become physically perfect. In justice to themselves all women should learn the scientific logic of the famous Yale system, the only successful means known of transforming human ugliness into youthful, lasting beauty.

Tickets for Mme. Yale's Lecture good for reserved seats may be had free of charge by applying for them at the Toilet Goods Department of the Wm. Barr Dry Goods Co. The best seats, however, are given those who make a purchase of Madame Yale's Remedies at the time of applying for tickets, amounting to 75c or more. ELOPERS JAILED BY HUSBAND WHO PURSUED THEM

THEN LOCKED IN CELL

Declaration Comes Just as Lieutenant Was About to Free Pair.

If Mrs. Clara Meyer hadn't talked so much she probably would not now be a prisoner in the Matron's Detention Room at Police Headquarters. Her presence there is due to her eagerness to proclaim her undying love for James Mallen, with whom she eloped to St. Louis. Edward Meyer of Milwaukee, her husband, had them arrested here.

Meyer intercepted letters from Mallen, who was in Streator, Ill., to Mrs. Meyer, telling of the plan of elopement, and he took a fast train and beat the pair here.

At the Union Station Meyer told Patrolman Biggio he wanted the couple arrested as they left the train.

Takes Pair to Central.

Biggio was in doubt as to his authority. There would be no evidence of wrongdoing in Missouri, and Meyer had no proof of his identity or his wife's. But Biggio consented to take the couple to the Central Station and let Lieut. Hess talk to them.

Mallen told Hess a satisfactory story. He denied there was an elopement, and said he had met Mrs. Meyer by chance on the train. Hess was on the verge of releasing them all when he turned to Mrs. Meyer and asked what she had to say.

"Yes," she burst out, "I love this man" (pointing to Mallen) "and I hate that man" (pointing to Meyer) "and I won't live with him. This man sent me money to meet him at Streator and come to St. Louis with him to live. He has treated me lots better than my husband."

Hess ordered Mrs. Meyer and her 18-months-old baby to the custody of the matron and Mallen to a cell.

Mrs. Meyer is 27 years old, and Maller is 35. Meyer will ask for warrants against them.

SECRETARY TO WYMAN IS ABLE TO GO HOME

Edgar A. McBurney Convalescent After Being Told of His Wife's Death.

Edgar A. McBurney, private secretary to Postmaster Wyman, who was in the City Hospital two weeks suffering from acute melancholia, due to worry over the condition of his wife, returned to his normal condition when told she was dead, and Friday was sent to his home, 3523 Cook avenue, convalescent.

At the time of Mrs. McBurney's death a week ago the hospital physicians issued orders that he should not be told of her death for fear he would not survive the shock. An attendant, who had not heard the orders, mentioned Mrs. McBurney's death to him.

Until that moment McBurney had not spoken a word since he had been at the hospital, but he immediately began muttering, "Dead, dead."

He has gradually improved, and a few days ago was removed from the observation ward to the medical ward, and Friday was sent home.

The doctors say the shock to his nervous system had the opposite effect from what they thought it would have, and that his recovery is due to the attendant's thoughtless remark.
